Keep Cool.

*On the Earl's cheek the flush of rage
O'ercame the ashen hue of age.*
—Sir Walter Scott.

THE OLD EARL was hot. If he had pulled off his stiff starched shirt and put on one of our Negligees or Silks he'd soon cooled off. A TALE OF TWO LIVES.
The Sequel Is With McNichol.

One half the world will never know
Just how the other half survives;
How fast the tide moves, or how slow,
How many a toiler strains and strives;
So many weakened in the strife,
Would by the wayside fall and lie,
If there were not true friend or wife
To help when others turn and fly.

I knew a man who never saved,
Who lived each day for all its worth,
A man who wanted home and craved
A refuge somewhere on the earth.
Another man, with wages small,
Put by each week a little sum;
Who rested not in spring or fall
Until he saw his harvest come.

"Now Kate," said Obediah Rix,
"It's summer time and I've a notion
To send you far from roasting bricks—
To take a rest spell by the ocean.
You've been a helpful mate, my dear,
You've never been the least contrary."
But Kate had thought of this a year,
The luck of her friends, Dan and Mary.

"No, Obediah Rix, said she,
"I have no wish for seaside roaming;
I like my home where I am free
To sit and cool off in the gloaming,
But if you will—you dear, good man,
Just let me straighten out this pickle
And get things on the installment plan,
Each week I'll fix it with McNichol."

[illegible] get the coolness I like best
From Mac's Grand Arctic boss ice chest."

Do you think Obediah put a straw in her way? Not he. He was dying to have his wife stay at home and make things comfortable. Who would not when it can be done for so little and on such terms? First, out went the old stove, and the new gasoline was a joy! No smut, no heat—reducing labor two-thirds. No ashes or soot; think of that in July! That comes from knowing

AN UNWISE MOVE.

Conservative Organs Disgusted With the Government's Backdown.

The Abandoning of the Compensation Clause of the Licensing Bill.

Mr. Balfour's Attitude—Mme. Waddington's Mishap—A Rebellion in Siam—Sarah Bernhardt's Narrow Escape—Emperor William and the Reichstag—Revolutionary Movement in the Argentine Republic—African Affairs—The Cholera in Spain—Earthquake Shocks in Germany—Foreign Affairs.

LONDON, June 24.—Most of the Tory newspapers swallow the action of the Government in surrendering the compensation clauses of the licensing bill, though it does not require a phenomenal keenness of perception to discover that the process of deglutition was extremely difficult and most unwilling. Several of these journals attempt to make it appear that the withdrawal of the clause was due entirely to the necessity which became apparent to the Government of relieving the present pressure of parliamentray business, but others are not disposed to stultify themselves to that extent. The Standard and Telegraph make no attempt to conceal their disgust at their growls and will necessarily have considerable influence in the direction of increasing popular Tory disapproval of the Government's display of weakness. These journals plainly intimate to the Ministry that it was a most unwise move on their part to make so ungraceful an attempt to cover up their virtual defeat in the House the other day, and even go so far as to accuse the Government of cowardice. But if the Conservative newspapers are chagrinned, the publicans are furious. They had prepared a monster petition in favor of the abandoned clause to which they had obtained 500,000 signatures. This petition they had intended to present to Parliament to-day as an expression of the enormous popularity of the measure and their exasperation at the faint-heartedness of the Government at its first parliamentary rebuff will doubtless make itself felt in the next general elections. Mr. Balfour now admits that he had always opposed the licensing clauses and is glad that they have been disposed of by the action the Government has taken.

THE [illegible]

The Times, commenting upon the Government's change of programme with the license bill says: "The Government have again shifted ground and have given their enemies the right to say that they know neither their own minds, nor the minds of their followers. There is no reason to suppose that the obstructive tactics of the Opposition will be in the slightest degree relaxed owing to the concessions which Mr. Smith ingeniously supposes will end the controversy."

The Standard says: "The Ministers cannot flatter themselves with having purchased the good will of their opponents. All they can hope is that they have made it easy for their professed adherents, who have hitherto viewed the bill with dislike or indifference to give them cordial and sustained assistance in forcing the measure through Parliament."

THE LORD MAYOR EXPLAINS.

The Lord Mayor of London, in answering a criticism to the effect that he had sacrificed the dignity of his office in signing a memorial under Cardinal Manning, says that Cardinals have been regarded all over Europe, since the loss of the temporalities of the Holy See, as deposed princes, and that Mr. Gladstone and Lord Salisbury have both recognized this rank in Cardinal Manning. The Cardinal has written a letter expressing his earnest sympathy with the cause of home rule for Ireland, a subject on which British Roman Catholics are very much divided.

MME. WADDINGTON'S MISHAP.

Mme. Waddington, wife of the French Ambassador to the court of St. James, formerly Miss King of New York, was nearly killed in Hyde Park Sunday, while riding. Another horse came against hers and both were thrown to the ground. Mme. Waddington was carried to the French embassy in a senseless condition, and several doctors were called in to attend her. It was reported last night that she may recover.

THE CITY OF PARIS ACCIDENT.

The inquiry instituted by the Board of Trade into the cause of the accident to the Inman Line steamer City of Paris, while that vessel was on a voyage from New York to Liverpool in March last, has been concluded and a verdict rendered. The Court, in its findings, attributes the casualty to the wearing of the propeller bearing. It also finds that the safety of the passengers of the City of Paris was not sacrificed to speed and that the vessel is one of the finest in the mercantile marine.

SARAH BERNHARDT'S NARROW ESCAPE.

Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, who is now performing Joan of Arc at Her Majesty's Theater in this city, had a narrow escape from death early this morning. Mme. Bernhardt returned to the Savoy Hotel, where she is stopping, at an early hour from the theater and retired. Finding it impossible to sleep she determined to take chloral, but by accident took 120 grains, which was an overdose, and the disastrous effects were soon apparent. She appeared to be dying and several physicians were immediately summoned and remedies were at once applied. It was four hours, however, before any marked improvement was perceptible in Mme. Bernhardt's condition and she was pronounced out of danger. She is now recovering.

Independence of the Reichstag.

BERLIN, June 24.—The Reichstag is displaying an independence that can hardly be gratifying to the Emperor. Popular sentiment is expressing itself through the representatives in a demand for the reduction of the intolerable burden of military service and the Government's proposition to increase the pay of army officers has been received with anything but approval. The Government will probably overcome this difficulty by making some substantial concession to the Catholic party, who hold the balance of power, and who are determined to make the most of their advantage.

FATAL FIRE DAMP EXPLOSION.

An explosion of fire damp occurred in a colliery at Saarbrucken, Rhenish Prussia, yesterday, killing three men and injuring several others.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCKS.

Several severe shocks of earthquake have occurred in the vicinity of the Black Forest of Transylvania, creating great consternation among the inhabitants, many of whom have deserted their houses and are camping out. Very little damage to property is reported in many places, but the earth has cracked, leaving fissures wide and deep enough to engulf any house in the disturbed region.

ALSATIAN PASSPORT REGULATIONS.

The Reichsanzeiger announces that the Alsatian passport regulations will be so modified that railway travelers with tickets for points beyond Kehl will not need passports.

THE MINISTER OF FINANCE.

Emperor William has accepted the resignation of Dr. Von Scholz, the Prussian Minister of Finance. In accepting the resignation His Majesty conferred upon the retiring Minister the Grand Cross of the Royal Order of the House of Hohenzollern. Dr. Miquel, who has been appointed to succeed Dr. Von Scholz, will assume the duties of the office on July 1.

ACCEPTED WITHOUT DEBATE.

The Reichstag has finally accepted the colonial credits without debate.

Rebellion in Siam.

LONDON, June 24.—News has been received of a very serious rebellion in Northern Siam, provoked by the oppressive taxation levied on the people. The province in which the rebellion has broken out adjoins Burmah, the most recent addition to the British Empire in Asia, and is said to have suffered about equally from Burmese raids and native oppression. The King of Siam is one of the wealthiest men in the world, with money wrung from his subjects, and his yearly income is enormous. The leader of the present rebellion commanded a similar outbreak last autumn, when he was defeated and compelled to retire to the forests. This time the movement is much more formidable and is regarded with anxiety at the Siamese capital.

Loss of the Sardonyx.

VICTORIA, British Columbia, June 24.—A letter has been received from Capt. Smith of the steamer Sardonyx giving particulars of the loss of that vessel off Queen Charlotte Island on the 13th inst. Capt. Smith says the steamer was proceeding southward at full speed with a smooth sea when she struck on a rocky shoal not down on the chart. The vessel could not be gotten off and soon commenced to fill. Boats were launched and passengers and mail conveyed to Skidegate. The steamer hangs on the rock and the Captain states she will go to pieces at the first high wind. The vessel was valued at $75,000. The rocks on which the Sardonyx struck are unknown to navigators and are believed to have been thrown up recently by volcanic action.

African Affairs.

BERLIN, June 24.—It was announced in the House by the Government that the negotiations between Germany and England regarding the territory in East Africa, were not yet entirely finished.

THE SOUTH AFRICAN LEGISLATURE.

PRETORIA, June 24.—The Volksraad of the South African Republic, has passed a bill providing that the Legislature of the Republic shall consist of two chambers, instead of only one—the Volksraad—as at present.

Father Crowley's Trial.

DUBLIN, June 24.—The trial of Father Crowley, parish priest of Bantry, County Cork, on a charge of boycotting, began at that place yesterday. The town is very much excited. The Government has taken extraordinary precautions against disorder, 500 extra police having been drafted in addition to the 600 mounted guards stationed there.

Mexican Matters.

CITY OF MEXICO, June 24.—The condition of United States Minister Ryan is slowly improving and he is now thought to be out of danger.

A PAYMASTER'S FALL.

EL PASO, Tex., June 24.—Paymaster Duran of the Mexican Central Railway is in jail in the City of Mexico, charged with being $19,000 short in his accounts. Mr. Duran has held a high place in the business and social world of his country's capital, and his arrest on the above grave charge has caused a great sensation.

Austro-Hungarian Finances.

VIENNA, June 24.—An arrangement has been consummated between the Hungarian Minister of Finance and the Rothschild syndicate whereby 302,000,000 florins of 5 per cent paper will be converted into 4 per cent gold rentes.

JOINERS' STRIKE.

The joiners of Lemberg have gone on a strike.

The Cholera in Spain.

Argentine Republic Revolution.

LONDON, June 24.—A dispatch from Buenos Ayres says that revolutionary action has started in Entre Rios, a province of the Republic, and is increasing.

Dominion Doings.

OTTAWA, Ontario, June 24.—Sir John Thompson, Minister of Justice, leaves to-day for England. He goes on official business and takes his secretary with him. He will discuss all questions pending affecting the Dominion which Canada cannot settle without the aid or consent of the mother country, including reciprocity in wrecking and coasting, copyright, fisheries and Behring Sea matters.

THE FISHERY PROTECTION CRUISERS.

The Minister of Marine and Fisheries says the instructions issued to the fishery protection cruisers are precisely the same as those of last year. The men are being armed with batons instead of cutlasses, as it takes too long to make them acquainted with the use of the cutlass. As last year, every man carries a revolver.

THE CHINESE POLL TAX.

The amount collected by means of the Chinese poll tax at Vancouver last month was $7,421, as compared with $5,075 for the same month last year. Notwithstanding that it cost $50 per head for Chinese to enter Canada, the tax does not seem to have materially checked the immigration of Celestials.

Sunday-School Picnic.

The Eden M. E. Sunday-school (German), corner Ninteenth and Warren streets, will hold their annual picnic at O'Fallon Park tomorrow, and an orchestra will be in attendance. There will be plenty of games, quartet singing and grand chorus by the little folks. The Arrangement Committee consists of Messrs. Theo. Niedringhaus, Chas. Maull, Jr., and Chas. Samels.

A HANGMAN'S BUSY DAY.

FOUR MURDERERS LEGALLY STRANGLED AT MEMPHIS, TENN., TO-DAY.

Frank Brenish, the White Wife Slayer, Refuses to Shuffle Off With the Condemned Negroes and Dies Alone, Stupefied With Whisky—The Three Blacks Hanged Together—The Men and Their Crimes.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 24.—Parker Harris, Ed Carr and Hardy Ballard, colored, and Frank Brenish, white, were hanged this morning, the colored murderers taking the plunge into eternity together at 11:24 and the white man dropping alone at 12:22. Arrangements had been made to swing the four together, but Brenish objected to being hanged with the negroes and his desire to die alone was gratified. The executions took place in the rear corridor of the jail and were witnessed by about 150 persons, including relatives and friends of the condemned, Deputy Sheriffs and members of the press. The death warrants were read by the Sheriff at 10:50 and ten minutes later the procession started on its way to the gallows. The three blacks walked up the steps with a firm tread and exhibited no signs of fear throughout the trying ordeal. [illegible] confessed their crimes and said they had made their peace with God. The drop fell at 11:24 and the necks of all three men were broken. A delay of forty minutes occurred, and then Brenish, supported by two deputy sheriffs, half walked and half staggered up the steps and on to the drop. When asked if he had anything to say, he attempted to speak but the wound in his throat prevented him speaking above a whisper and he soon gave it up. He was stupefied with whisky and exhibited no concern. The drop fell at 12:12, and two minutes later life was pronounced extinct. His neck was broke by the fall.

The crime for which Frank Brenish, the only white man of the quartette executed this morning was hanged, was the killing of his wife, Mary Brenish, on the night of July 5 last. The couple were married in 1887 and lived together until a short time before the tragedy when Mrs. Brenish left her husband owing to his neglect to provide for his family. She obtained employment as a chambermaid at a hotel, visiting her children daily. Brenish waylaid her at frequent intervals begging her to return to him, and finally threatening to kill her if she did not. About 9 o'clock on the evening of July 5 Mrs. Brenish left her home for the hotel, accompanied by her sister and a child by a former marriage. Brenish intercepted the party near the corner of Union and Third streets, and upon her refusal to go home with him drew a long, keen-bladed knife and buried it to the hilt in her neck. She never spoke and death was almost instantaneous. Then the murderer, backing himself against the wall of a building, drew the sharp blade of the knife across his own throat, inflicting a wound, the recovery from which constitutes one of the most remarkable cases in the annals of surgery. The windpipe and esophagus were severed and as it was thought by the physicians he would die in half an hour nothing was done for him beyond administering opiates. His remarkable constitution, however, pulled him through.

On Sunday, August [illegible], a murder and attempted suicide occurred which so closely resembled the Brenish tragedy of six weeks before, that the first might have been taken as a pattern for the second. The facts in the case, the results and the causes which led to the second tragedy were exactly the same as in the first. The victim was Lethe Harris, an octoroon of more than ordinary beauty, and the murderer Park Harris, her husband, a mulatto. The woman was instantly killed and although the slayer's windpipe was partially severed, he was out of danger in a few days.

On the very day and at the very hour when the jury returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree against Harris for killing his wife another negro was preparing himself for the gallows by the commission of a similar crime. At 4 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, November 9, 1889, Edward Carr, a negro, entered the station-house, pistol in hand, and announced that he had killed his wife, Sallie Carr. He gave as a reason that his wife was unfaithful to him. He made no defense. The trial lasted only two days and conviction was the result.

Last Christmas was signalized by the commission of two foul murders. Early in the morning the body of a colored man, who had been murdered for his money, was found under the Bayou Bridge on Elliott street. He was never identified nor were his murderers ever captured. The second murder occurred at 8 o'clock in the evening, when E. Pinkston, a street car driver, was stabbed to the heart by Hardy Ballard, a negro. Ballard boarded a Main street car near the South Memphis terminus, and upon being requested to deposit his fare, advanced to the front platform and with the words, "Here's your nickel," stabbed Pinkston in the left breast with a knife. Death resulted in a few moments.

AFTER SIX YEARS.

Twenty Revenue Stamps Which Were Lost in 1884 Have Been Found.

Revenue Agent McCoy has just closed up a case which has bothered the department for six years. On August 2, 1884, an employe of the Kansas City Distilling Co. went to the Collector's office and bought twenty stamps for forty-gallon packages of whisky, paying for them, something over $900. On his way back to the distillery he lost them. He retraced his steps to see if he could find them but someone had picked them up in the meantime and no trace of them could be found. When they were given up for lost more stamps were bought to cover the sale of this whisky and some time passed on before anything further was heard about the missing stamps. Then the distilling company made application to have the money refunded. It had bought two sets of stamps for the same whisky and had paid the tax twice. Officers had been on the lookout to see if the stamps were used, but they were not, and finally the Treasury Department refunded to the company what it had paid for the lost stamps.

Some time after that the revenue agents began to hear that some man in Kansas City was offering stamps for sale. They heard that he had opened negotiations with several illicit distillers and tried to sell the stamps to them, but the agents could not find out who the mysterious person was. On June 17 Mr. McCoy received information that this person was quite a well-known man in Kansas City and that he had the stamps in his safe. Mr. McCoy went up there at once and found the man he wanted. When he informed the well-known gentleman that he knew where the stamps were and unless they were surrendered an arrest would follow, the stamps were produced and Mr. McCoy returned with them next day. They will be sent to Washington and destroyed.

He Is a Fraud.

B. Nugent & Bro., whose establishment is at the corner of Washington avenue and Broadway, has offered a reward of $50 for information which will lead to the arrest and conviction of an imposter who is going about the city and surrounding country representing himself as a traveling agent for the establishment. The story he tells is that he is establishing branch agencies for the McCall's Bazar paper patterns, for which B. Nugent & Bro. are the Southwestern agents. He gives his name as A. E. Arnold and A. E. Arlington, and collects a small sum of money from the people he visits as a mark of good faith on their part. Messrs. Nugent say they have no agents and that the man is an imposter.

KEPT IN IGNORANCE.

B. M. Chambers' Mother Does Not Yet Know Anything of the Tragedy.

It has been nine months since Frank J. Bowman met his death at the hands of B. M. Chambers, and in that time Mr. Chambers has passed through the ordeal of being tried for murder in the first degree, has been imprisoned, and has finally been acquitted of the charge which hung over his head for those nine long months. During the whole time the one person nearest and dearest to him in this world has been in entire and utter ignorance of the tragic scenes which were being enacted and of the peril in which Mr. Chambers stood. This person is Mr. Chambers' mother, an old lady of 91, who is still living on the Chambers place at Ferguson, where Bowman was killed, and where his body lay for two hours on the lawn on the day of the tragedy. On the witness stand he said it was more for her sake than his own that Mr. Chambers killed Bowman and risked the gallows.

The first thought that entered his mind immediately after the tragic affair at Ferguson was, "My mother must know nothing of this." His first acts were directed toward keeping from his mother the knowledge that anything unusual had happened. Those members of the family who had occasion to come about the place and might see Mrs. Chambers were instructed particularly to make no signs which would betray to her that anything had happened and the household affairs were so regulated that all went on as calmly and quietly as before. Then came the arrest and the time when Mr. Chambers was confined in the Clayton Jail.

The family was again instructed as to what to say and old Mrs. Chambers was given to understand that her son had been called to New York on business very suddenly and might be detained for a greater or less length of time as his business required. While confined in the Clayton Jail, but a few miles from the old homestead where his mother was passing her declining years, Mr. Chambers wrote to her regularly and the letters were sent to New York, where they were remailed back to Mrs. Chambers at Ferguson. This was done during the whole time that Mr. Chambers was in jail at Clayton awaiting a preliminary hearing. He in his letters wrote to his old mother as if nothing had happened.

Then came the time when he was to be tried for his life at Ironton. He could make no unusual display of affection when parting from his mother when preparing to pass through that terrible ordeal. He simply had to bid her good-by as if only going on a short trip of business and pleasure combined. Not a sign escaped him to cause her to suspect that he was in the deepest trouble. The constant thought of the terrible shock it would be to her was more than enough to give him strength to hide his emotion, and he went to his trial with his old mother still in ignorance of all that was happening and of the fact that he was leaving her to go before twelve men and be tried for his life.

During the trial when Mr. Chambers was testifying in his own behalf upon the witness stand he came to the point in his story where he made up his mind to resist Bowman's attempts to enter the house. The question was put to him by his attorney, "Mr. Chambers, why did you think it necessary to take such a step?" Mr. Chambers' eyes filled with tears and his voice became husky with emotion as he replied: "I knew that the man would not hesitate to break into the house and I knew that if he did it might kill my mother."

Mr. Chambers has returned to his home at Ferguson, but to-day his old mother is in ignorance of every fact connected with the tragedy.

THE SUGAR TRUST.

A Decision Against It by the New York Court of Appeals.

SARATOGA, N. Y., 24.—The Court of Appeals' decision in the sugar case, handed down this morning, is strongly against the trust. The judgments of the lower courts, dissolving the trust, are fully affirmed by the Court of Appeals. This fact was not apparent in the first decision, handed down at 10 o'clock, the decision being so clouded with technicalities that its true intent was not apparent to one not familiar with every phase of the case. At 11 o'clock however Clerk Parks announced to the group of correspondents that there had been a mistake in preparing the decision. His deputy clerk or some one else had left out the most important feature of the decision, viz: The fact that the court had affirmed in toto the decisions of the lower courts. A copy of the opinion cannot possible be had here to-day. It is in the possession of the court officials at Albany.

Local Views of the Decision.

The effect of the decision of New York Court of Appeals in the case of the Sugar Trust was extensively canvassed among the local brokers to-day the general opinion being that it did not reach the real merits of the matter. Few pretended to understand its scope fully, as the case passed upon was one of a series, the history of the trial had been long and complicated, and it was not believed that the essential point had been pronounced upon.

Page McPherson, in discussing the situation, said: "The decision has not come in fully, but enough has been received to show that the court considers the trust illegal, and that it does not forbid the formation of a partnership on the basis of the trust. This last clause is the essential feature, and is pending in another case, which may be decided before the adjournment for the term, which will take place on Friday. The present decision does not touch on this point. The stock closed at 71 yesterday, after the decision was rendered it rose to 74, and then declined to 71¼."

W. C. Little said: "The decision does not refer to the main question, and concerns only a minor motion. The main question, as to the constitutionality of the combination known as the trust, still remains before the Court of Appeals undecided."

Others held similar views, the general opinion being that the question decided was not the main one before the court.

RESTORED TO ITS MOTHER.

Mrs. Nellie Esteb Receives Her Child From Her Runaway Husband.

A singular domestic complication has been partially straightened out. Six weeks ago Ralph Esteb, a Richmond, Mo., attorney, disappeared from his home, taking with him his 3-year-old son. He married, four years ago, Nellie Shaw, member of a wealthy Ray County family, and Mr. Esteb himself is well connected and of marked ability. Shortly before his disappearance he gave his wife the key of a box at the local bank, and this box was found to contain a large sum of money, though naturally not enough to compensate the young mother for her terrible loss. For the last few months detectives have been hard at work searching for Esteb, but without avail, and just as all hope was being abandoned Mrs. Esteb received a note from her husband in Canada, suggesting a meeting to settle matters. The meeting was arranged for and took place at the Lindell Hotel. It resulted in Mrs. Esteb recovering her son and bearing him off in triumph to Richmond.

A Chinese Scout Captured.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 24.—Ah Lin, a scout sent out from a large camp of Chinese located three or four miles below the boundary line, not far from Tia Juana, was captured last evening and turned over to the authorities at this place for trial. There are about fifty Chinamen in the camp from which Ah Lin came. They were landed at Ensenada several days ago by the steamer Newbern, which brought them up from the lower coast.

AT 8:05 A. M. TO-MORROW

THE THREE WINNING "POST-DISPATCH" TEACHERS WILL START FOR EUROPE.

A Trip to Niagara Falls Over the Big Four Route and a Four Days' Stay in New York to Precede the Day of Sailing—Plans Arranged for Their Pleasure—A Splendid Summer Vacation Arranged for Them.

TO-MORROW morning Mrs. Rose Wright Fanning, Miss Madge Frederick and Miss Callie A. Pritchett, the three successful ladies in the POST-DISPATCH contest for the most popular school teachers, depart on their trip to Europe. They are to spend a week in traveling and sight-seeing in this country at the expense of the POST-DISPATCH before they sail. The ladies will be accompanied by Mrs. J. C. Stumpf, a friend of Mrs. Fanning, who asked as a special favor that she should be permitted to travel with them. Mrs. Fanning taught a brother of Mrs. Stumpf, and the latter lady is an admirer of the popular school teacher. Mrs. Stumpf will make the entire journey with the ladies.

Now that the time of departure is so near at hand the friends of the successful teachers are calling on them in numbers to bid them good-bye and have a farewell chat with them. Entertainments have been given them by the score ever since their success was announced. The friends of each of those ladies have arranged to hold farewell gatherings in their honor this evening. Mrs. Fanning's old friends have arranged to give her an informal entertainment at which large numbers of them will be found. They will have music and refreshments and toasts will be added to the regular conversation of the evening. The party will be broken up early to enable the lady to retire so that she will wake up strong and refreshed for the long journey she is to undertake in the morning.

THE START TO-MORROW.

Through the kindness of the official of the "Big Four" route a most delightful trip has been arranged for the ladies over that splendid system and connecting lines between here and New York City with stop-overs at points of interest. A more desirable route could not possibly have been planned than that mapped out by General Passenger Agent Martin of the Big Four and W. F. Snyder, the popular General Western Agent of the road at St. Louis. The train pulls out of the Union Depot at 8:05 a. m., and there will be legions of the friends of the popular ladies gathered at the platform to bid them God-speed on their journey. Handsome floral offerings will be sent them by the POST-DISPATCH and by admiring friends, and they will go away under as pleasant circumstances as ever tourists started on a journey.

AT NIAGARA FALLS.

The first day of the journey will be spent in the cars and at 5:50 the next morning, Thursday, the ladies will arrive in Buffalo, N. Y. There they will breakfast, leaving about 6:30 a. m. for Niagara Falls, which they will reach at 7:15 a. m. There they will spend the entire day in sight-seeing, Mr. Snyder of the Big Four Line having made all arrangements for their entertainment there. The ladies will take carriages and view the falls from both the American and Canadian sides, and will be driven over both bridges, taken to Prospect Park, Goat Island, the Cave of the Winds, the Whirlpool Rapids and all other points of interest in and about this greatest of America's natural wonders. It will be about 8:16 p. m. Thursday when they take leave of the falls and resume their journey toward New York City.

THE TRIP ON THE HUDSON RIVER.

They reach Albany at 6:20 a. m. Friday, and after breakfasting there take a Hudson River boat at 8 a. m. for New York City. The trip to Albany Mr. Martin and Mr. Snyder have arranged for the ladies to take over the popular Big Four Line to its connection with the Lake Shore, one of the leading Vanderbilt roads, which the tourists will travel over to the Falls, and there they will take the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad to Albany. From there, as has already been stated, it has been arranged for the ladies to take a handsome river steamer to New York City. Those who have made the trip down the Hudson from Albany to New York City in the day time know what a pleasure the ladies have in store for them. It is one of the most picturesque and delightful trips to be found in the country. The banks of that magnificent stream are a continuous panorama of beauty from the time the boat leaves Albany, the capitol of the Empire State, until it reaches the metropolis. The beautiful clear green water is in itself a feast for the eye, and its banks, in addition to the beauty which nature has given them, possess many points of historic interest. There the tourists are shown the home and last resting place of the most cherished of American writers, Washington Irving, at Sunnyside, Irvington, the grave of Gen. Grant, and other places which cannot fail to interest the most apathetic traveler. On the beautiful heights are also to be found the magnificent country residence of Jay Gould and other wealthy New Yorkers. The boat on which the teachers will make this trip is a very fast steamer, traveling twenty miles an hour, and will carry music on board and other things to make the voyage enjoyable.

THE STAY IN NEW YORK CITY.

At 4 p. m. Friday the ladies will reach New York City. They will be met at the steamboat landing by a representative of the POST-DISPATCH and escorted to the Fifth Avenue Hotel, where they will stop during their stay in New York. While in New York City a representative of the POST-DISPATCH will be in attendance on the ladies to show them every courtesy and arrange for their entertainment. They will be driven about the city and shown all the principal buildings, will be taken to the theaters where the principal attractions are being produced, to the races and through Central Park and in fact shown every point of interest in and about the metropolis if they so desire. They will spend Friday afternoon and evening, and all of Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday in New York City, and during that time will be entertained according to their wishes.

ON BOARD THE BOTHENIA.

On Tuesday night the ladies will board the Cunard Line steamer Bothenia, where accommodations have been secured for them. The steamer sails early Wednesday morning, July 2, just one week from the date of the ladies' departure from this city. As soon as they reach New York the remainder of the journey will be in the hands of Cook & Sons, the well known managers of tourists' trips all over the world. A personal agent of the Cooks will accompany them throughout, from the day they leave New York until the day of their return. He will take all the troubles of travel off their hands, so that they will have nothing to do but to give themselves up to the pleasures of travel and sight-seeing. Commodious staterooms, exactly amidship, have been secured for the tourists on the Bothnia.

THE JOURNEY ABROAD.

The European tour alone, which is to last nearly fifty days, has been carefully planned by Cook & Sons and a more interesting trip could not possibly be designed. The state room which adjoins those of the St. Louis teachers will be occupied by the two lady teachers to be sent to Europe on the same trip by the New York WORLD, so that the ladies will have some congenial associates for near neighbors. There will also be about one hundred distinguished physicians aboard the ship on their way to attend the International Medical Congress. The ship will arrive at Queenstown on Thursday, July 10, and the next day the ladies will be landed at Liverpool and taken by special train to London. While away they will visit London, Paris, Rome, Brussels, Venice, Florence, Genoa, Antwerp and other places. On Saturday, August 9, they embark at Liverpool in a Cunard steamer and the following Saturday, August 17, land in New York City. After a stay there the teachers will return to St. Louis in time to open their schools.

EAST ST. LOUIS.

A Suit for a Strip of Land Claimed by Two Corporations—Belleville News.

The City Court convened this morning and took up the case of the city of East St. Louis against the village of New Brighton. The case is to determine whether a certain strip of land lying near the boundary line between the two places belongs to the village or to the city, and virtually involves the right of the village to exist. The strip is now under the jurisdiction of New Brighton, and embraces the most thickly settled portion of the village. Should the case be decided in favor of East St. Louis the population of the village would be reduced to about three hundred persons. The case was commenced in the City Court, but Judge Canby, disclaiming jurisdiction, decided in favor of the defendant on a special demurrer, and caused an appeal to the Appellate Court by the plaintiff. The Appellate Court remanded the case for trial. Judge Canby is hearing the evidence to-day. The trial is not expected to come to an end before to-morrow.

DEATH OF JOHN DRISCOLL.

An Interesting Incident in the History of the Veteran Fireman.

John F. Driscoll, engineer of Company No. 28, of the Fire Department, died at his home, 3738 Morgan stree,t last night. He was one of the best known men in the depa rtment, for he had been in it ever since 1869, and had won an enviable reputation as an efficient and faithful member. He was the best engineer in it and really a mechanical genius. One of the many simple contrivances he designed has grown into a matter of great importance in the fire service all over the country.

Chief Lindsay, in speaking of it this morning, said: "I think it was in 1869, just after Driscoll came into the department, that he invented the little thing. It didn't amount to much itself, but it led to some great inventions. He was then at the house on Seventh and Olive streets. The weather was very warm and the mosquitoes were as bad as I ever saw them. We used bars, but Driscoll said his bar always bothered him when he got out of bed in a hurry at night, so he fixed a string to it with a weight on the end and had the weight held up by a trigger that was just over the gong. When the hammer of the gong rose for the first stroke it would strike the trigger, let the weight fall and Dricoll's net would fly up to the ceiling before the bell sounded. Out of this simple device has grown all this system of dropping chains, opening doors and letting down harness that is used all over the country. Other people have patents on them and have grown rich out of their patents, but John Driscoll gave them all the idea. I never saw any man so much in love with his business, and I never saw a more faithful or capable man in the department than he was."

A BIG RAILROAD STRIKE.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL SWITCHMEN, FREIGHT CONDUCTORS AND BRAKEMEN GO OUT.

The Trouble Caused by the Action of an Unpopular Superintendent—All the Suburban Traffic of the Road at Chicago Suspended—Only Mail Trains Permitted to Move—Labor News.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 24.—The strike of freight conductors, switchmen and brakemen on the Illinois Central Railroad has been serious one and threatens to interfere with business. The suburban men struck this morning after early trains had come in, and there are now about 1,300 men idle and the business of the road is paralyzed. The bone of contention in the strike is undoubtedly E. G. Russell, Superintendent of the Northern lines of the Illinois & Wisconsin Railroad. He came to Chicago a year ago and ever since his accession to the office, it is said, the men under him have been dissatisfied. The immediate cause was the resignation of Trainmaster Berry and his assistant, I. E. Pushie. A rumor went the rounds of the freight yard yesterday that it was the intention of Supt. E. G. Russell to dismiss Berry and Pushie. As the train master's assistants knew of no reason for their dismissal, they took the bull by the horns and went to the Superintendent's office to learn the cause of the rumor. They also formulated a grievance which has been a sore point for some months with the brakemen and conductors. Under the old rules a freight train arriving in the depot first was always allowed to depart before the others, but Mr. Russell inaugurated a new rule by which certain men were allowed to run their trains before others, despite the fact that they had arrived at the depot much later. Trainmaster Berry inquired whether the Superintendent would insist on the new rule. He answered "Yes," and he, being questioned further as to their intended dismissal, again replied in the affirmative. Berry and Pushie then and there handed in their resignations. As the news spread like wild fire through the yards groups of excited men gathered together and decided to stop stop work until their grievances were settled. Last evening the matter was laid before the switchmen, who struck at once, and at a subsequent meeting, at which the suburban service men were represented, a demand for the removal of Supt. Russell and the reinstatement of Berry and Pushie was formulated. This was presented this morning and as it was not complied with the suburban men joined the strikers.

A conference between the men and officials of the road has been called for 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The Calumet Miners.

CALUMET, Mich., June 24.—The Tamarack employes went to work at noon yesterday on a 10 per cent raise. There was no trouble with the employes of the Calumet and Hecla. The Kearsarge mine employes intended to begin work at noon. A telegram from the Boston office instructed Assistant Supt. Watson not to raise the wages of the Kearsarge or Osceola until Supt. Daniel returns. The Kearsarge miners on hearing this news at once closed down the blacksmith, machine and cooper shops and then took to the wooks, where the miners are sinking a test pipe for the Calumet vein. They took their picks and shovels out of their hands and ordered them home.

The Joliet Quarrymen.

JOILET, Ill., June 24.—The strike which commenced in the stone quarry here last week is not yet settled. The men at the different quarries were all at work yesterday morning, but in the afternoon the men at Keltie's quarry failed to go to work. At about 3 o'clock they visited other quarries southeast of the city and the men went out to the number of several hundred. They had gathered together and were proceeding from one quarry to another when they were met by the Sheriff and a number of deputies and ordered to disperse. Failing to do this four of the strikers were arrested.

The Boston Bricklayers.

BOSTON, Mass., June 24.—At a stormy gathering of the bricklayers which lasted till midnight last night, the union voted to refuse all material handled by non-union laborers. This action, it is thought, will precipitate a general stopping of building operations or a general concession by the bosses to the Building Laborers' Union.

REAL ESTATE.

The Corner of Delmar and Goodfellow Sold at $37.50 a Foot—Saturday Auctions.

Another 60-feet adjoining this corner piece was sold to the same party for $1,650; that is $27.50 a foot for the inside property. Both of these were cash purchases and the prices paid very reasonable compared with Capt. John P. ON THE GRAND REPUBLIC.

Second Excursion for the "Sunday Post-Dispatch" "Want" Advertisers.

The second of the excursions given by the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH to advertisers in its "want" columns will take place to-morrow evening. The steamer "Grand Republic" will start from the landing at the foot of Locust street at 7 p. m. sharp for a pleasant trip on the river, returning at about 10:30 in ample time to catch street cars in any direction. Just now while the mercury in thermometers in store windows is coquetting with the century mark, and actually reaching 97 and 98 in the shade, there can scarcely be a more pleasant or healthy recreation than a river excursion, and the "want" advertisers in the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH who avail themselves of the opportunity affordee them to-morrow evening will have every reason to congratulate themselves on having done so.

The Grand Republic will leave at 7 o'clock promptly. The hour has been fixed so as not to inconvenience those who are kept employed till 6, but punctuality must be observed or the trip would otherwise be made too brief. Arrangements have been made to exclude objectionable and doubtful characters should such appear, and ladies can rely absolutely on nothing occuring to mar the

PLEASURE OF THE EVENING.

In fact, the excursion will be of the most select kind. A first-class band has been engaged for the occasion and those who are fond of dancing will have an opportunity to indulge in their favorite pastime. Those who do not dance will find plenty of other forms of amusement, and it is probable quite a number will derive their quota of enjoyment from a peaceful contemplation of the more active amusements of others, and will enjoy a spell of luxurious idleness in the delightfully cool river breeze. At any rate there will be room for all, and the programme will be so varied that every one will be able to make himself or herself happy.

This is the second of the series of excursions given by the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH to advertisers in its "want" columns. No charge of any kind is made the excursionists, the whole expense being borne by the POST-DISPATCH, which charters the boat and provides for the comfort of its guests for the evening. The first excursion was an admitted success, and as the weather just now makes the very suggestion of the river breeze welcome, the record made is sure to be beaten to-morrow. These excursions will be continued during the summer and due announcement will be made of them from time to time.

IMPORTANT TO SECRET SOCIETIES.

Decision Rendered by Justice Ryan in a Suit for Sick Benefits.

A case was tried before Justice Ryan a few days ago, in which James Kehoe brought suit against the Supreme Lodge of the Knights and Ladies of Honor and Westgate Lodge, No. 56, of which he is a member, for $28 due him for sick benefits. On January 14 of the present year, Kehoe was working in a second-story window of a building, when he fell and sprained his ankle. He reported himself sick to the lodge and the visiting committee waited upon him. He was allowed sick benefits at $4.50 per week for ten weeks, which is according to the constitution. After three weeks he was ordered off the sick list, on account, as alleged, that he had sufficiently recovered to be able to work. Kehoe brought suit in Justice Ryan's court to recover the balance, as he claims he was not able to work for over three months, when it was stated that he had violated the constitution by not paying his dues in advance. Mr. L. Steber, the attorney for the lodge, submitted that as the Supreme Lodge only sanctioned subordinate lodges to pay sick benefits out of their general fund, the Supreme Lodge was not liable, and as West Gate Lodge was not incorporated under the State, they could not be sued. Justice Ryan took the matter under advisement, and to day rendered a verdict against the Supreme Lodge and dismissed the case against West Gate Lodge. An appeal will be taken to the Circuit Court.

THE SECOND DISTRICT POLICE COURT.

A Colored Man Who Did Not Mind Being Struck on the Head.

Two colored prisoners sat in adjacent chairs in the Second District Police Court. One was coatless and his open shirt showed a massive neck. His companion was an ill-looking specimen with a cocoanut-shaped head. One eye was half closed by a squint giving his face a leering expression.

"Come up on the stand, John Smith, and tell what you know about this trouble," said the Court.

The coatless fellow stepped up on the stand.

"I doan know nuffin 'bout de trouble, sah," he said as he shifted uncomfortably from one foot to the other. "Dat fellow he come into de saloon wiv a knife in his han' an' 'lowed as how he'd cut de libber outer some body. Den de crowd jes run him out. I were wid de crowd."

"Did you hit him?"

"I jis clipped him in de head wiv a spittoon. He were jabbin' de knife at me, sah."

William Jackson then limped up on the stand and took the chair. He walked very slowly and apparently with great pain.

"'Twan't dat fellow dat hurted me, sah," he said, as he grinned in a friendly way towards his companion. "He only hit me on de head, sah. Anudder feller he trowed a brick an' hit me on de shin."

"Then this man didn't hurt you?"

"No, sah. He only hit me on the head."

He admitted having gone into the saloon looking for a fight and that he was chased down the street.

"I'll fine you $10 and costs," said the Court.

DUNBAR'S ENTOMBED MINERS.

The Rescuing Party Hopeful of Reaching Them To-Day.

DUNBAR, Pa., June 24.—Hope has again been revived that some of the entombed miners may be taken out alive. The rescuers broke into the Farm Hill Mine at 3:30 o'clock this morning, and after the loss of several hours, testing the air, started on their search for the men. Mine Inspector Keighley says he cannot tell what obstructions may be met, but he hopes to reach the imprisoned men by 2 o'clock this afternoon. If the air is as good as at the opening he has hopes that some of the men may be yet alive. The whole town is astir and large crowds are flocking to the mine from all directions. All the mines in the coke region were closed down this morning by order of District Master Workman Kerrfoot. The men have been ordered to Dunbar to aid the searchers.

The rescuing party has reached "Gob," which is very loose. They think they are eight feet from the line. The miners will meet to-morrow to take action on the rescue of the imprisoned men.

A BROKEN ARCH.

Serious Accident Yesterday at Broadway and Lynch Street.

A serious accident occurred yesterday afternoon at the building in course of erection on the west side of South Broadway between Lynch and Dorcas streets, in which three men were seriously hurt. The building is one erected by Koehler Bros. & Co., the proprietors of the American Brewery. About 2 o'clock Oscar Koehler, a son of the owner; John Winkelmeyer of the Winkelmeyer Brewery Co. and Henry Seeler, a carpenter boss, were standing in the engine room of the building, in the basement, about twenty feet below the first floor, inspecting the work which had been done, when one of the heavy composition arches, built of crushed granite and cement, gave way and fell on the men before they could make their escape. A workman engaged on the floor above heard the preliminary crack and shouted a warning to visitors. It came just in time, as the visitors moved several feet from their original position just as the mass of stone tumbled upon them. As it was they were caught by heavy pieces of the material and crushed to the floor. The other workmen rushed to their assistance and dragged the prostrate men from their precarious positions before the second fall occurred. Mr. Winkelmeyer was found to be the more seriously injured. His left leg was broken in two places and badly crushed, while his right ankle was dislocated. He was also considerably bruised about the body and lower limbs. Mr. Koehler was bruised about the body and sustained slight internal injuries, while Seeler escaped with a sprained shoulder and a bruised knee. All of the men were removed to their homes, Winkelmeyer living at 2847 Bismarck street, Koehler at 2814 South Seventh street, and Seeler at the southeast corner of Seventh and Dorcas. Their injuries are painful, but not of a dangerous nature.

VALUABLE INFORMATION.

The Secretary of the Mechanics' Exchange Sends Out a Circular to Get It.

At the last meeting of the Board of Directors of the Mechanics' Exchange it was unanimously resolved to instruct the Secretary to procure, if possible, statistics showing the amount of building material in the various lines sold and the amount on hand, thereby compiling them altogether, which would form valuable information, not only to the Mechanics' Exchange, but to all parties interested in the building line. Yesterday evening Secretary Walsh sent out requests to all the contractors for figures showing the amount on hand June 30. These figures, Secretary Walsh says, will be most interesting to the members of the Exchange and of value to the city.

"St. Louis at the present time, and for the past six months, has, I have every reason to believe," said Mr. Walsh, "been doing more in the building line in proportion to its population than any city in the country. Builders drop in occasionally from various parts of the country, and from them and the trade journals we can get very good information as to what is doing elsewhere. In Cincinnati there is very little doing, and Chicago is not doing nearly as much building now as a year ago. Here everybody engaged in the building line has got all the work they can do, and the prospects are that they will continue to have plenty of work until the beginning of winter."

NEW CRIMINAL PROSECUTIONS.

New warrants sworn out at the Four Courts this morning charge John Farver with forgery in forging a check for $55, and by means of fraudulent representations inducing J. O. Hunicke to affix his indorsement to the paper; Hugh O'Brien, alias Wm. Ferguson, burglary in the first degree in breaking into the residence of J. H. Ray, 1708 Chestnut street, and stealing a quantity of jewelry and clothing; Jos. Kelly, Mike Sweeney and Pat Ruddy, robbery in the first degree in holding up John B. Cahill and robbing him of $5; Gottlieb Grass, petit larceny in stealing a lot of clothing from Peter Enders; Edward Noonan, Geo. Carr and John Servass, selling policy tickets; Joseph Rau, assault and battery on Henry Niemeyer.

ST. ALPHONSUS SCHOOLS.

Closing Exercises in the Various Departments.

The closing exercises of the senior class of girls of St. Alphonsus School were given last night at the school hall. Father Seyle presided. The salutatory, "Border Lands," was delivered by Miss B. Carpenter and the class rendered the "Ave Maria" [illegible] an opening chorus. A piano and zither selection was rendered by the Misses L. Ryan, A. Rivera, M. Roache and L. Murphy, after which a gesture drill and chorus entitled the Dragon Fly, was gone through by a group of well drilled and prettily costumed young ladies. The operetta "[illegible] of the Roses" was very well rendered to the great amusement and entertain[illegible] of the audience, and other musical [illegible] followed.

The junior girls' comm[illegible] will be to-morrow evening, and the [illegible] have their turn on Thursday.

CATTLE ON THE RAMPAGE.

Tormented by Bad Boys and Killed by Brave Policemen.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Five steers got away from Kaufman's West Fortieth street cattle pen yesterday and wandered about the streets until two of them met ignominous deaths at the hands of the police. They were not Wild West steers and would have been harmless and well behaved while seeing the metropolis if they had not been tormented by a great crowd of boys. They separated after a time and one of them started on a tour, followed a mob with sticks and stones. They tormented the animal, and it began to show a retaliating disposition when Policeman Trainor put a bullet into its head. A butcher completed the job by cutting its throat. A second animal kept along the water front and attracted less attention. Policeman Sullivan and a butcher killed it at Thirteenth avenue and Twenty-fourth street. The three other animals made things lively at Sixth avenue and Twenty-sixth street. Several pedestrians were knocked down but no one was seriously hurt. The brutes were finally captured and brought back to the pen.

The Kemmler Case.

SARATOGA, June 24.—The appeal in the Kemmler case came up for argument in the Court of Appeals this morning, but when counsel for the people opened his argument, the court stated it did not desire to hear him, and affirmed the decision of the courts below, which was that the Warden of Auburn Prison was the proper person to execute the death sentence.

JUDGE THAYER adjourned the United States District Court over to Friday as a mark of respect to the memory of the late Hon. Geo. W. McCrary.

Get The Best

Is a good motto to follow in buying a medicine, as well as in everything else. By the universal satisfaction it has given, and by the many remarkable cures it has accomplished, Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven itself unequalled for building up and strengthening the system, and for all diseases arising from, or promoted by, impure blood. Do not experiment with any unheard of or untried article which you are told is "as good as Hood's," but be sure to get only

Weather forecast for twenty-four hours, beginning at 8 a. m. to-day, for Missouri: Fair; no change in temperature; southwesterly winds.

Weather forecast for twenty-four hours, commencing at 8 a. m. to-day, for St. Louis: Fair, stationary temperature.

WE know that St. Louis is a great city but we want its full greatness to shine out in the census returns.

CONVINCING proof of the incompleteness of the St. Louis census is added every day to the mass of evidence already submitted. A new count is a necessity.

ACCORDING to the decision of the local labor convention the alleged labor organs must go with the professional labor representatives. Both are beasts of prey and labor is well rid of them.

MILK INSPECTOR SULLIVAN'S crusade against impure milk is a righteous one. The odds are heavy enough against the city children during the hot weather without giving disease and death the benefit of poisoned food.

OF course the Democrats are powerless to get a vote on an amendment without "Dirigo" REED'S permission, but they can at least call attention to the fact that there is no Australian ballot reform in Maine or in the Federal election bill.

THE French Chamber of Deputies has passed a bill to increase the duty on maize to 8 francs the hundred weight. As a measure to deprive the American farmer of foreign markets, both in buying and selling, the McKinley bill will work beautifully.

ASIDE from actual evidence of numbers of persons who were missed by the enumerators this city's statistics for the past decade offer sufficient proof of the errors of the census. Everything points inevitably to the census as a stupendous blunder which must be corrected as soon as possible.

THE friends of the victorious lady teachers in the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH trip-to-Europe contest will start for Europe by proxy to-morrow. The enjoyment of the journey to the Old World will be shared by the friends of the victors and by the public who made this happy ending of the great contest.

CHICAGO'S largest gain in the census returns is due to the annexation of an immense section of surrounding territory. Baltimore is enabled to become a rival of St. Louis for fifth place in the list of cities through annexation. Whether the St. Louis returns be complete or incomplete, they represent the actual growth of St. Louis proper and not a fictitious growth based on an enlargement of the city's territory.

OGDEN, Utah, is doomed to bitter disappointment. It will not be regaled with visions of rare female loveliness such as only St. Louis can furnish at the coming carnival of King Rex. Chairman BROWN of the Beauty Committee has discovered that St. Louis has been discriminated against in the arrangements and his dander is up. Fairness for fairness is his motto in this instance, and hence St. Louis will not contribute to the decorations of the carnival. Ogden will have to struggle through with such crude antiques and fly-specked samples of alleged beauty as New Orleans, Chicago, Kansas City and Cincinnati can afford. The town is to be pitied.

BON VOYAGE.

The happy culmination of the great popular teacher contest of the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH will be reached to-morrow when Mrs. FANNING and Misses FREDERICK and PRITCHETT, the three victors, will start upon their journey to Europe and will begin to reap the pleasant fruits of their well-deserved triumphs.

The journey to New York, which will be made by the Big Four Route, will commence to-morrow. Arrangements have been made for the party to stop at Niagara Falls and view that wonder of our own country and to sail down the picturesque Hudson from Albany to the metropolis. From Friday afternoon until Monday the ladies will remain in New York in care of a representative of the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH, who will see that they are given opportunity to thoroughly "do" the city. On Monday evening they will go aboard the Bothnia, which will sail for Europe the next morning. The ocean trips and the European tour embrace about fifty days of travel and delightful sight-seeing in the Old World. The journey cannot fail to be full of rare enjoyment for the alert and accomplished lady teachers whose friends voted them deserving of it.

This trio of excellent teachers and bright, charming women are in a measure representative of the teachers of St. Louis and carry with them the evidence of the generosity and the appreciation of faithful service of their fellow citizens. Their progress will be watched with interest, and in wishing them a pleasant journey and a safe return the POST-DISPATCH voices the wishes of the public.

THE CASE OF ST. LOUIS.

If not a single citizen of St. Louis had complained of being missed by the census enumerators there would be ample evidence on which to base a strong argument against the accuracy of the returns sumitted to Maj. WEIGEL.

The records of the City Hall alone show a growth of the city in all respects to which increased population is a necessary concomitant and which stamps falsehood on the poor returns of the census enumerators. The building permits of the past decade added 27,000 buildings or over 100,000 rooms, to the house capacity of the city. The revenue from water licenses has nearly doubled in ten years, having increased from $530,000 in 1880 to over $1,000,000 in 1890. The taxable wealth has increased from $160,000,000 to $245,000,000. Other statistics are as eloquent of growth. More than three times as many letters are mailed a year now as were mailed in 1880. The clearances and commercial statistics show an enormous increase. These figures are borne out by the outward appearance of the city, which has spread in all directions not bounded by the river, until the visitor to the city in 1880 would not recognize many large portions of it now. It is a new city.

To accept the returns of Maj. WEIGEL and his force of incompetents would be to admit that the city has nearly doubled in all respects except population—the essential element of growth—which reduces the thing to an absurdity. The fair presentation of the case of St. Louis to the authorities at Washington can not fail to convince them of the failure of the census count and the only logical consequence of this lies in a new count.

THE significance of the election returns in Quebec, as explained fully in yesterday's POST-DISPATCH, indicates that the Dominion has an internal trouble on hand which promises more serious consequences in the immediate future than the growth of annexation sentiment. It shows the increasing unification for definite national purposes of French sentiment. Premier MERCIER, who is on the top crest of popularity, has definitely stated that his aim is to build up a new France in Canada and the Northwest, and on that platform win a signal victory at the polls. While an actual clash between the English and French-Canadians may be averted by wise policy, there is a possibility of a vast amount of trouble in the situation.

A MASS meeting held in Ottawa, Kan., has announced that it recognizes the authority of the recent original package decision of the Supreme Court, but will not tolerate any original package business in that community. One of the reverend gentlemen who addressed the meeting announced as a friendly warning to all concerned that an organization of 500 citizens was prepared to furnish the venders of original packages with a nice new suit of tar and feathers and to escort them back to Missouri as witnesses of Kansas devotion to law and order.

IT has been the boast of Chicago that this census would show that she had nearly as many people as New York. But if New York had taken in all the cities and towns surrounding her, after the manner of Chicago, she would have about three times as much population as the windy city, and there is excellent reason that New York should do this, and thus take the place which her commercial importance and actual population belonging of right to the metropolis entitles her to in the list of the world's great cities.

Mr. F. L. Marshall,

Representing the POST-DISPATCH on 'Change, will be on the floor during business hours and will call on merchants who desire to make use of the POST-DISPATCH market reports. Telephone 284.

IT IS 432,000.

Supervisor Weigel Says That Is the Result of the Enumeration.

The St. Louis Delegation at Washington Confident That a New Count Will Be Secured.

Estimates of Populations for Thirty Cities of the United States Compiled by the "Post-Dispatch"—What the Local Supervisor Says About the Count in St. Louis—Names Reported Missed—Some Prominent Citizens Ignored.

The St. Louis representatives in Washington have done their work promptly and well, and now it is almost assured that the city will be granted a recount. Quite a delegation is in Washington looking after the city's interest. Mr. C. H. Sampson went on as the representative of the Mercantile Club Committee, and Gen. D. P. Grier and Col. John B. Gandolfo, who are there to urge the establishment of a large military post in St. Louis, joined him in his effort to secure a new count, as did also City Counsellor Bell and Harbor Commissoner Murphy who are also in Washington. These gentlemen devoted yesterday to the census and they worked with great success. They called on Secretary Noble and Supt. Porter and had long interviews with them. Mr. Sampson was armed with statistics which proved a good deal more than mere statements that the enumeration had been negligently made. He showed that the taxable wealth of the city in 1880 was only $160,000,000 while in 1890 it is $245,000,000. The number of letters mailed in 1880 was 3,000,000, while in 1890 it is 10,000,000. These and numerous other statistics were presented to show that beyond dispute the city's growth is to the alleged population shown by the inaccurate census taken here and that the only possible explanation for the great difference between the actual material growth and the alleged increase of population is that the enumerators did not count anything like all the people who were in the city. Gen. Noble and Supt. Porter assured the delegation that when they received the returns they would examine them and if they saw any reason why a recount should be ordered they would at once grant it. The following telegram was then sent to Mr. Joseph M. Hayes, Chairman of the Mercantile Club Committee.

Committee had an interview with Secretary Noble and Supt. Porter, in which the question of a new census enumeration in St. Louis was presented and discussed. The decision will be made within a week on receipt of official returns, and we feel confident that a new census enumeration of St. Louis will be ordered; in the meantime take no further action in St. Louis.

LEVERETT BELL,
CLARK H. SAMPSON.

Acting in accordance with this telegram

THE MERCANTILE CLUB COMMITTEE

will take no further steps in the matter until Washington is heard from again. The committee is satisfied to let the matter rest with Gen. Noble. The facts have been presented to him and he will receive the official returns, and after examining them he will determine whether a new count will be ordered. Gen. Noble will, of course, be guided by the conditions which he may find when he investigates the case, and in passing upon St. Louis' claims he will show her no greater preference than other cities, though this is his home, but the committee is satisfied that he will give St. Louis the benefit of the doubt, and knowing that there is sufficient ground for a new count and that all the facts have been presented to the authorities, the committee rests assured that St. Louis will have a recount.

The next thing to do is to get the official returns to Washington. The sooner they are shipped the sooner the authorities will have a chance to examine them, and the quicker will come the order for a re-count.

Supt. Porter was absent from Washington for three days, and during his absence one of his chief assistants wired Supervisor Weigel to hold his returns until further orders. Mr. Porter returned to Washington yesterday, and he sent a telegram to the Supervisor asking when he would be ready to ship. Mr. Weigel is ready to ship at any time. He naturally as it has been taken, and says that if it was held open two weeks not 500 names would be added. That may be true, but it does not follow that only 500 names could be added. There are thousands who have been missed, and they could all be added while the census is being held open if there was a systematic and energetic effort to secure them. But since they are not to be added it is far better that the incomplete and totally incorrect census should be sent on, in order that a new census might be ordered as speedily as possible.

Maj. Weigel was asked this morning if the census was closed.

"No," he replied, "I have not yet received all the returns of the colleges and asylum."

"When will you ship the returns?"

"My last instructions were to wait for further orders."

"Can you tell what the total count now is:"

"It is something over 432,000, but I do not know the exact figures."

"Will you say whether you think there is any necessity for a recount?"

"No, I won't be interviewed on that subject. I'm out of it now."

MAJ. WEIGEL

said this within a few hours after the following interview with him appeared in a morning paper which has printed a number of the Supervisor's slurs on the people of St. Louis:

"Let me say that I believe the census of St. Louis has been taken. You cannot make a blanket longer by cutting a piece off of one end and sewing it on the other. If a 'fake' census is to be taken it is an easy matter. There is no trouble about taking a man at his house, and at his store and shop both. If the city is very ambitious to make a showing, it might catch him on the street car as he goes to and from his work."

Maj. Weigel reminds one of a globule of mercury. You put your finger on it and it is not there. It has been but a short while since he said he knew that the census of St. Louis was incomplete, but the people of the city were mostly to blame, and then the compensation was so small that he could not get good men. Now he says he believes the census has been taken and openly insinuates that St. Louis is trying to secure a false count. The gentlemen who have this matter in hand are alone a sufficient guarantee that Maj. Weigel's charge is untrue.

CHAIRMAN HAYES

of the committee has plainly stated that he did not want to see a solitary person represented in the count who was not actually resident in St. Louis. No one wishes it, in spite of what Maj. Weigel says, but everyone wants to see the city fairly well represented, to see every inhabitant counted, and this Maj. Weigel and his incompetent enumerators have so woefully failed to do that slurs against the people of the city will not help them to palm off their false pretense as an accurate count of the population of this city. The blanket can not be made much longer by cutting off a piece at one end and sewing it on at the other, but it has been made shorter by Maj. Weigel, who cut off a piece and threw it away.

Maj. F. H. Wines of Springfield, Ill., is in the city, and he will materially aid in securing a new count for the city. He is one of the experts employed by Supt. Porter, and he has been sent out here to examine the census returns and report as to their inaccuracy. Maj. Wines will investigate many of the omissions, and he is sure to find that they have been frequent enough and grievous enough to justify a recount.

When families like that of Mr. Moses Rumsey, whose letter is printed below, are omitted it is easy to see that the work has not been guided by intelligence or good judgment, but that 288 incompetent men have been turned loose and have counted those they could count easily.

The Wives Supplied the Names.

The enumerators are still going through the mass of names published in the missed-from-the-census column of the POST-DISPATCH and in about 99 per cent of the cases have found the lists correct, and their returns wrong. When they find a mistake they promptly call for a correction, and as promptly get it. Enumerator Crocker says that he enumerated the nine persons who had been missed at 1502 Elliot avenue last Thursday.

In the long lists of employes of the Brownell & Wight Car Co. reported as missed, the following four are now said to have been enumerated, wives or boarding-housekeepers supplying the necessary information: L. H. Mellon, 2203 North Broadway; Lee Hamilton, 906 Clinton street; William Mason, 2205 North Broadway, and L. Kuntz, 815 Clinton street.

Enumerator Hickman says he called on 386 families, but only found twenty-six men at home. He adds that a sister of Mike Lofty, 2021 North Tenth street, supplied details for him and that P. J. McCarthy, 807 Clinton street; George Reagan, 809 Chambers street; Peter Wright, 2013 North Broadway; George Donally, 912 Clinton street, and W. Cassiday, 813 Clinton street, were enumerated by information supplied by ladies at home.

Frank Wissmann, 3153 North Thirteenth street; Frank Cushing, 3179 North Thirteenth street; John Moog, 1212 Palm street, and Thomas Adams, 904 Madison street, were enumerated at second-hand from information supplied by various members of their families.

The name of the gentleman missed at 46 Nicholson place is C. Sarrazin.

More Omissions.

The following letter was received this morning:

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Myself and family, numbering ten, have not been taken in the census yet. Respectfully,

MOSES RUMSEY, 3687 Lindell avenue.

A schedule was left with Mr. C. F. Blanke of 10 South Second street. He filled it up, optional questions and all, for the six occupants of his house, and, as no one called for it, sends it on to the POST-DISPATCH as evidence of the fact that his omission was his misfortune rather than his crime.

None of the following have any reason to suppose they have been enumerated:

THE CENSUS OF 1890.

Figures Collected By the "Post-Dispatch" Up to 3 P. M. To-Day.

From various telegraphic sources the population of the cities named in the following table has been ascertained by the POST-DISPATCH to-day. In the second column the figures are those of 1880 and the third column shows the increase. Where the population is only stated in round numbers a similar rule is followed in the increase column. The most doubtful return in the whole is that for Baltimore, which is only credited with 399,687. From other sources reports come placing the total at a trifle over 432,000. Should the latter figure be correct it will put Baltimore above Boston, and, unless St. Louis gets a recount, will make the race for fifth place a very close one indeed.

CITY.	1890.	1880.	Increase.
New York	1,627,277	1,206,299	420,978
Chicago	1,200,000	503,185	696,825
Philadelphia	1,040,449	847,170	193,279
Brooklyn	1,015,000	566,663	265,000
St. Louis	432,000	350,518	79,482
Boston	417,000	362,839	44,161
Baltimore	399,687	332,313	67,687

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

SUBSCRIBER.—You should take soup from the side and not from the end of a spoon.

INQUIRER.—Call at the office of the Superintendent of Public Schools for a semi-quarterly pay-roll list, which contains the information you desire.

S. W.—An escutcheon is a shield on which a coat of arms is represented, a picture of the ensigns armorial. A stick notched to commemorate certain events is not an escutcheon, although in some instances it may be placed upon an escutcheon.

WAGER.—Wm. H. Vanderbilt by his will left $10,000,000 to each of his eight children, one-half of each bequest to be held in trust; to his eldest son, $2,000,000, $1,000,000 to the eldest son of the latter and the residuary estate in equal parts to his two eldest sons, subject to the payment of an anuity of $200,000 to the widow, to whom he left his house and the artistic objects it contained. He left $1,000,000 for benevolent purposes. Cornelius Vanderbilt, the "Commodore," left all his fortune to his eldest son, Wm. Henry, except $11,000,000 bequeathed to the latter's four sons, and $4,000,000 to his own daughter.

The Queen's Daughters.

The "Queen's Daughters" met at St. John's Sodality Hall yesterday afternoon for the transaction of business. The society is a Catholic one, its object being to assist poor boys and girls. Miss M. Hoxey occupied the chair, Miss Nettie Quirk was Secretary and among the clergy present were Vicar-General Brady and Fathers Bronsgeest, Felix, Brennan and Coffey. Reports from various members, large attendance at the different sewing classes, and the St. John's Parish branch reported the distribution of 1,000 warm garments during last winter.

THE BOARD'S DECISION.

THE STREET DEPARTMENT VACANCY WILL NOT STOP NEW WORK.

A Hearing This Afternoon on a Big Block of Proposed Improvements—The Appropriation Bill to Cause Another Wrangle in the Assembly—The Cullinane Appointment—City Hall Notes.

Notwithstanding the question that has been raised affecting the authority of the Board of Public Improvements to proceed with new work by presenting ordinances for the same, during the existence of a vacancy in the Street Department, the board has decided to go ahead and recommend ordinances for every improvement requested by the interested property owners that is considered necessary, where no majority remonstrance is filed. This afternoon the board is in session hearing property owners on proposed ordinances for the improvement of over one hundred streets and alleys situated in all sections of the city and never before in the history of the board has it taken up so many proposed improvements at a single hearing.

Speaking this morning of the question raised by Commissioner Murphy at last Friday's meeting, President Burnet said:

"We have carefully examined into the charter and ordinances and find that our position is unquestionably right, and we grant that when a majority remonstrance is presented it takes the unanimous vote of all members of the board to recommend an ordinance, but when there is no remonstrance and when it does not come from a majority of the property owners interested, a majority vote on the part of the board will suffice. The fact that there is a vacancy in the board, certainly does not tie our hands and prevent us from proceeding with improvements needed without delay both by the city and the property holders."

Since Commissioner Murphy's motion to reconsider all the business transacted at the public hearing was defeated, the point has been raised that the board's action was not in accordance with parliamentary rules. When Mr. Murphy moved the reconsideration, Commissioner McMath amended his motion so as to have only the ordinances, against which remonstrances were filed, reconsidered and then the amendment carried. Roberts' Manual, which is the authority under which the board proceeds, says that a motion to reconsider cannot be amended. The record of the meeting goes to show that Commissioner Murphy's motion was amended.

President Burnet and Commissioner McMath said to-day that the board had acted in the premises, and that its action would stand firm.

Harbor Commissioner is now in Washington and is not expected to return before Friday or Saturday. It is not considered probable that he will insist on the point he raised.

A Wrangle Expected.

The general appropriation bill, it is expected, will receive its first reading to-night in the House of Delegates. It was ordered to engrossment in the Council Friday evening last, and will come up for passage to-night. When it reaches the Ways and Means Committee of the House the trouble between the two branches of the Assembly will begin in earnest, and it is believed will cause the law-making department of the city government to remain in session the greater part of the summer. The members of the House Committee on Ways and Means, particularly Chairman Bogard, claim that the same committee in the Council ignored all precedents by failing to give the House Committee a voice in the preparation of the ordinance. The Council Committee went to work alone in the Comptroller's office and with the assistance of that official and Chief Deputy Gabel, prepared the measure which will receive its first reading in the House to-night. The Ways and Means Committee of the lower branch say they will take their innings and insist on the adoption of a number of amendments. Some of these amendments it is safe to say will not be concurred in by the Council, and a long wrangle will then be inevitable. The House only a few weeks since unanimously passed the bill providing for an increase of the police force despite the declaration of Comptroller Stevenson that there were not sufficient available funds to meet the increased appropriation for police purposes. The House will, it is understood, insist on the increased appropriation. The appropriation bill sets apart $100,000 for the new City Hall, and the claim is made that this is not necessary, as the amount already appropriated for that purpose is in excess of $200,000.

Will Act This Evening.

Though no meeting of the Council Committee on Public Improvements was called up to 3 o'clock this afternoon, still it is understood that the committee will get together before the Council meeting this evening to decide upon a report on the nomination of Mr. Wm. Cullinane, the Mayor's third selection for the vacant Street Commissionership. To-day some of Mr. Cullinane's friends say he will be confirmed whether the Council Committee recommend that action or not. Mr. Cullinane is not over-sanguine, and says he will accept the result gracefully, whether it is favorable or not. Though his Republican and Democratic friends have been very active in his behalf, the opinion still prevails that the chances are against his confirmation.

In the event of his rejection the Mayor will, of course, send in another name and already there is considerable speculation as to who he will be. The Mayor says he has not decided what step to take next, but will not give the Council an opportunity to elect. It was reported about the hall yesterday and to-day that the Mayor would treat the Council to a surprise by sending in the name of Councilman Phil Rohan. Mr. Rohan's friends, however, attach but little importance to the report. They say that if the Mayor did give the Council Mr. Rohan's name, confirmation would almost certainly follow.

Street and Sewer Work.

At the regular weekly meeting this morning the Board of Public Improvements decided to recommend to the Assembly for passage a big batch of ordinances providing for street and sewer work. These ordinances are the result of the public hearing last Tuesday and have been asked for by a majority of the interested property owners. One of the bills asks for the reconstruction of Laclede avenue with cedar blocks from Leffingwell avenue to Grand. One of the most important of the sewer bills provides for the construction of the southern sewer to cost over $24,000.

Until yesterday no trace could be found of him.

DOINGS IN THE COURTS.

HENRY STANZE'S PECULIAR WILL REJECTED BY THE PROBATE COURT.

He Directs What His Funeral Shall Consist Of and Makes Other Strange Provisions—He Rembers His "Friends" Who Interfered in His Family Affairs—No Ice at the Court-House—Legal Notes.

A paper purporting to be the last will and testament of the late Henry Stanze was offered in the Probate Court this morning and rejected. C. H. Charles Kile, the executor mentioned in the will, refused to act, and Conrad and Louis Stieber, the two witnesses to the will, filed affidavits declaring their belief to be that Mr. Stanze was not in his right mind when he made the will. From the peculiar bequests mentioned in the document it would be inferred that he was not of sound mind and body as he claims to be in his preamble. The will is dated October 24, 1889. He commends his immortal being to God who gave it and his body to earth to be buried with as little expense and ostentation as possible. He directs that his funeral consist of only two carriages and a hearse with four pall bearers. To his wife, Frances Stanze, he gives his property in Lowell. To his stepson, John Meyers, he gives the homestead and to John Meyers' son he gives $50. To the St. Vincent German Catholic Orphan Asylum he gives $500, to the Alexian Brothers, $500; to the Little Sisters of the Poor, $500, the three bequests to be paid after his wife's death. To his stepson, Henry Bechte, he gives $1,000 when he shall become of age. To another stepson, Frank Schenk, he gives $1,000. To the Mayor of Ortbergen, Hanover, Germany, he gives $100 for the poor of that city, to be distributed as the Mayor may think they need it. To the German Protestant Orphans' Home he gives a claim against Mrs. John Hepp for $1,000 for money he loaned Mr. Hepp in 1876.

"I also give, devise and bequeath," he continues, "to my friends who have heretofore interfered in my family affairs the sum of $1 each, namely: John Pohl, Mr. Shenk, John Willer, John Merkel, Gerst Saeltiel and Fred Freedenwold, to be paid shortly after my death."

Conrad Hiener, one of the witnesses, said Mr. Stanze frequently during his acquaintance with him acted strangely, and in his opinion was not capable of making a testamentary disposition of his property.

No Ice at the Court-House.

The wheels of justice were clogged for fully an hour this morning, in the Court-house, on account of the failure of the Muckerman Ice & Coal Co. to deliver the regular daily supply of ice for the building. Every morning about 7 o'clock from 700 to 800 pounds of ice are left for all the offices. Joseph Rabbett, one of the janitors, receives it and weighs it. Yesterday, Mr. Rabbett says, the iceman asked him to give credit for 750 pounds, when only 725 pounds were delivered, as payment for carrying the ice from the sidewalk into the building. Rabbett refused to be implicated in any such scheme, and said he would give credit only for the ice delivered. It was his custom to stand by the ice scales and see that the ice was properly weighed. This morning when Rabbett took his stand beside the scales he told the iceman to leave 800 pounds. The driver asked if he had been given credit for 750 pounds yesterday and when told that he had been given credit for only 725 pounds he struck Rabbett in the breast and knocked him away from the wagon. He said he would allow no one to see him weigh the ice again. Rabbett refused to accept the ice unless he saw it weighed and the iceman drove off.

About 9 o'clock, after all the clerks and officials had began their work, the demand for ice water commenced. In every office and court-room cries were made for the janitors for ice water. The demand increased until 11 o'clock when the situation became really exciting. Another ice company was ordered to deliver the ice several times by telephone, but failed to comply. A third company was then given the order and a plentiful supply of ice was in the building in a short while. The bill will be charged to the Muckerman Ice Co., which has the contract to furnish ice at the Court-house and Four Courts.

ROBBERY ON AN OWL CAR.

A DARING DEED, AND AN EXCITING CHASE AT AN EARLY HOUR.

ph Kelly and Michael Sweeney Identified by Driver Gustavus Baer and Conductor John Cahill as the Men Who Stopped Their Car on the Union Depot Line at 2 O'clock This Morning and Robbed Them.

THIS morning John Cahill and Gustave Baer appeared at the Four Courts and positively identified Joseph Kelly and Michael Sweeney as two of the three men who, about 2 o'clock this morning, held them up on board a Union Depot car at the corner of Eleventh and Pine streets. Cahill was the conductor and Baer the driver on the car. As [illegible] orner was reached Cahill [illegible] moving out into the track and rang [illegible] bell for a stop, thinking that they were prospective passengers. The next thing he received a blow from behind and fell forward into the street. One of the men, wearing on his hand a pair of brass "knucks," held him down while a confederate went through his pockets and took $5 in small change. The third man turned his attention to the driver, Baer, who was on the forward platform, ordering him to hand over his watch and chain. Instead of complying with this request, Baer shouted for assistance and Officers McNamara and King hove in sight. The robbers took to their heels. Only one succeeded in making his escape. Kelly and Sweeney were overhauled and arrested. Warrants charging them with robbery in the first degree were sworn out.

About ten minutes after this had been done two men called at the station and asked permission to see the prisoners. Cahill and Baer were in a rear room at the time. When they came out both immediately recognized one of the visitors as the third party in last night's assault. Without giving the alarm they motioned to Sergt. Miller, who went around the rail and put the man under arrest. The prisoner gave the name of William Ruddy, but insisted that he had not been near Eleventh and Pine streets last night. He claims that he can prove an alibi. A warrant will be taken out for him.

Burglars Caught With Plunder.

This morning warrants were sworn out charging Hugh O'Brien and William McDonald with burglary in the second degree and larceny. On the strength of these the prisoners were transferred from their quarters in the holdover to cells in the jail.

O'Brien and McDonald were arrested about 1:30 o'clock this morning, being caught in the very act of committing a burglary. Considerable credit is due Private Watchman McEntire for his work in the case. About 10 o'clock McEntire saw four men pass along Chestnut street at Seventeenth. He followed them and saw them attempt to open the shutters at the house at 1706 Chestnut street. Their efforts were in vain, however. While two of the men were working at this place the other pair went to the residence of James Day adjoining and opened the window. They then crept in and began to pass out various articles to their companions on the outside.

While all this was in progress McEntire had crept into a yard near by and placed himself in readiness for trouble. As the four men came by him with their arms full of plunder he rose from his concealment and with drawn revolver commanded them to hold up their hands. Instead of obeying the burglars dropped the property on the sidewalk and dashed down the street, McEntire in hot pursuit. Three shots he fired at the flying fugitives with no effect. Officers Murray and Alt joined in the chase and caught two of the men after running several blocks. The other two escaped.

The prisoners were taken to the Four Courts, where they gave their names as Henry Morris and James Ferguson. This morning, however, they were identified by members of the detective force as Hugh O'Brien and Wm. McDonald. About three months ago O'Brien escaped from the Workhouse, where he was serving a long term from the Criminal Court. McDonald was but recently released from the same institution after serving a full year.

The stolen property, consisting of clocks and clothing, was this morning identified by Mr. Ray, who swore to the complaint on which the warrants were issued. The police suspect two well-known characters of complicity in this job, and may make other arrests to-day.

CAPT. DELIA CROSS.

The First Woman to Own and Command a Vessel.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Mrs. Delia Cross of Brooklyn is now Mrs. Capt. Cross of the schooner Oregon, and Chief Clerk Dunn of the Custom-house Naval Bureau assisted in the transformation. Mr. Dunn is not an advocate of women's rights, but when Mrs. Cross calmly appeared before him in the Custom-house rotunda the other day, and wanted to take the oath as master and owner of the Oregon, Mr. Dunn could find nothing in the law to prevent her from becoming Capt. Delia, and Capt. Delia it was after she signed a cross, which she affixed to the necessary documents instead of writing her name. Her husband has been the owner of the Oregon, but transferred the vessel to his wife for business reasons. Mrs. Capt. Delia is stout, and looks determined enough to be the captain of the Oregon and Mr. Cross also. Mr. Dunn says that this is the first case of which he knows where a woman has become the owner and master of a vessel. Years ago, Mrs. Wilson, now an inspector at the barge office, brought a vessel to port after the death of her husband, who was the Captain. She also sailed on a voyage as commander of the vessel. There is also female pilot on the Mississippi River.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 24.—Two well known Philadelphia doctors, one male and one female, have been missing from their usual haunts for about three weeks. It turns out that they were married by Rev. Dr. Haughton in New York, on June 3, and that shortly after the ceremony the pair sailed on the steamer Alaska for England, en route for Australia. Dr. W. Hammell, the gentleman in the case, is much more distinguished by his amorous escapades than for eminence or his science in his profession. The young woman is Annie Bamberger, who, as the first woman who had the courage to practice dentistry in the Quaker City, has become quite notable. The marriage is remarkable, not only for its fugitive character, but for the fact that Hammell has a wife living with her mother in this city who has filed a bill for divorce, alleging cruelty, failure to support and desertion. On the day of the marriage of the two doctors, Dr. Hammell's mother-in-law went to New York to have him arrested, but she arrived too late.

THE GAS MOTOR.

It Will Not Be Given a Trial on the Bellefontaine Road for Several Weeks.

When Mr. James Campbell, the street railway broker, returned home this morning after a ten days' business trip, he found on his desk a letter from the Connelly gas motor people of Elizabeth, N. J. The information contained in this letter is of interest to St. Louisians generally and especially to those who ride on the Benton and Bellefontaine line. It will be remembered that some time ago Mr. Campbell stated that the new gas motor for which he has secured the patent right in Missouri would be given a trial on the Benton and Bellefontaine road on July 1. The letter which he received this morning contained the information that he would have to wait a little longer before making the test on the Benton and Bellefontaine road. The reason of the delay is this: When the gas motor proved a success in Elizabeth, among the first street railroad magnates of another city, who desired to give it a trial on the lines which he controlled was President Yerkes of Chicago. The gas motor people requested him to defer making the test, until they had completed certain improvements on which they were still working, the object of which was to lessen the noise. Mr. Yerkes was impatient, however, and so they sent him one of the motors which was the same as those running in Elizabeth. This motor has been on trial now in Chicago and has given satisfaction. After sending Mr. Yerkes a motor the Gas Motor Co. began to equip one for Mr. Campbell, and in this they put their latest improvements. Now that they have it completed, however, the company writes Mr. Campbell, that they think it for their best interests that the improved motor should be exhibited in Chicago first, and so they will send it there. The letter did not state how long the improved motor would be run on the Yerkes lines, but Mr. Campbell thinks that he will not secure it for a test on the Benton & Bellefontaine road for at least several weeks.

ILLINOIS CROPS.

Bulletin Issued by the State Department of Agriculture.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 24.—The crop bulletin issued by the State Department of Agriculture says: The reports of the crop correspondents concerning growing winter wheat do not materially differ from the bulletin published from this department June 1, at which time it was apparent to the wheat growers that the most favorable conditions until harvest would make little improvements in the prospect. In the winter wheat belt of the State May 1, the average condition was reported at 75 and June 20, the same section reports a condition of only 61 per cent of an average, a decline of 14 points since May 1. In the central divisions, where the bulk of the winter wheat is raised, the condition is 55 per cent of an average for June 20, a drop of 18 points. In the southern division 67 per cent of an average condition is reported, a drop of 11 points since May 1. The damage done to the wheat by the Hessian fly can not be estimated. Nothing short of the harvest will convey even an approximate idea of the loss from this source. In many locations where there was no sign of this devastating pest until within the last ten days, it has made its appearance and is doing much damage. The oat crop in the northern division is up to the average, the central division, about two-thirds of an average crop is promised, while the crop in the southern division will be almost an entire failure. The grain plant louse made its appearance about June 1 and is daily increasing the area to be reported a failure in this section of the State. The area seeded to corn is some larger than that of last season when 6,988,000 acres were devoted to this crop. The condition for the State over is 91 per cent of an average for June 20.

LEWIS APPEL'S DESPERATION.

The Handsomest Man in Baltimore Tries to Kill Himself.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 24.—Lewis Appel attempted suicide last evening by shooting himself. Appel is an art student, and is very much in love with Miss Maggie Haas, a handsome young woman. She appeared to be equally fond of him. Yesterday afternoon he called on the young lady as usual. She received him in the conservatory. After a few minutes' conversation, the purport of which neither will divulge, Appel drew from his pocket a revolver and placing the muzzle at his temple, pulled the trigger, but the ball went wild. Miss Haas then tried to get the weapon from him but he fired a second time. Again his aim was bad and he succeeded in inflicting only a slight scalp wound. By this time the people in the house arrived at the scene and he was prevented from doing further damage. Appel belongs to an excellent family and is said to be the handsomest man in Baltimore. Miss Haas is the daughter of a prominent musician.

ON WITH THE OLD LOVE.

The Romantic Story of M. Lucien Davean and Mlle. Viola Bougrand.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Twenty years ago there arrived in Raoul, France, a young man named Lucien Davean. Lucien was 25 when he fell desperately in love with Mlle. Viola Bougrand, the village belle. A storm arose between the lovers shortly before the nuptial day. He went to Havre and thence to this country, and finally married an estimable French woman. He prospered in business and became well-to-do. Two years ago his wife died and left him alone and childless. A short time ago he learned that Viola had never married but had remained true to her love for Lucien. He opened a correspondence with Viola and yesterday morning at the barge office a middle-aged Frenchman, with a silk handkerchief wound around his arm for identification, stood waiting for the passengers from the steamer La Normandie to be registered. Lucien and Viola met and left to have the old engagement consummated by a clergyman.

CEDAR KEYS, Fla., June 24.—At the election for Mayor here yesterday almost every vote of the town was polled. Col. E. J. During the canvass the Cottrell faction worked hard on the colored voters, compelling them to show what ticket they were voting.

LOWER CALIFORNIA.

THE SCHEME BY WHICH MAJ. SCOTT INTENDED TO CAPTURE IT.

A Complete Confession Made by Walter G. Smith, the Once Prospective Governor-General of the "New Republic"—The Conspiracy Engineered by Maj. Scott, an English Army Officer—Too Much Talk.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 24.—Walter G. Smith, Governor-General of the organized filibusters, whose attempted raid upon Lower California was recently exposed, has returned to his Southern home after a week's sojourn in this city. Prior to his departure Mr. Smith made a complete confession. He said:

"The English Colonization Co. was alone at the bottom of the so-called raid of filibusters. The scheme was never intended as a filibustering proposition, but was to be a revolution of the residents of Lower California—nothing more nor less. Maj. Scott came to me originally as a General and General Manager of the English Colonization Co. Scott is a Royal Engineer, member of Gen. Wolseley's army stationed in India, and came to Lower California on a two years' leave of absence. The leave of absence has expired and he is now on his way to join his regiment, having been refused a second leave of absence. This is one of the prime factors in the failure of the revolutionary scheme. Maj. Scott came to my office in San Diego early last winter and introduced himself. He told me that he wanted to employ a man of brains to raise a row in Lower California. Then he unfolded his plans. He wanted a number of Americans to locate at Ensenada, to take up their residence there and become citizens of Mexico. At the proper moment the uprising of the people would take place, arms and amunition being previously smuggled in the territory from the United States. An independent government was to be set up in Lower California with

ENSENADA AS THE CAPITAL CITY.

I accepted Maj. Scott's proposition and at his invitation made a trip to Lower California. If the scheme had carried I would have made a clean $50,000 by the operation. My printing office I intended to remove to Ensenada and start a daily paper that would become the official organ of the new independent government. I was to be made Governor-General at a large salary. Before I visited Ensenada, at Maj. Scott's request, I met Gen. Edward Hill at the Hotel Decoronada, where I was living with my family. Gen. Hill was spending the winter at the hotel. He is from Michigan and was with the Sixteenth Regiment of Michigan Volunteers during the rebellion. Being an accomplished man and an expert upon military affairs, I looked upon him as a valuable man for Maj. Scott's scheme, and he accepted my invitation to accompany me to Ensenada. I was anxious that he should look over the ground carefully from a military point of view. We visited Ensenada, examined the proposition with great care, and we were entertained for several days by Maj. Scott and other officials of the English Colonization Co. Upon our return to Lower California we consulted with B. A. Stephens, who traveled all over the peninsula, and was well posted upon its resources, and various other gentlemen who have since been named in connection with the scheme. We consulted them more especially to obtain their views upon

THE DIFFERENT PROPOSITIONS INVOLVED.

"It was not our intention to make a raid upon Lower California, but, as I have stated, to take our residence there and in six months to become lawful citizens of Mexico. We held several meetings in San Diego, but none of them were regularly organized or official. They were merely conferences, at which we discussed possibilities and probabilities. It is my opinion that Maj. Scott had other plans in view with which we were unacquainted. I am satisfied that he made connections, similar to those made with us, in other quarters. In fact, he may have had half a dozen connections, so that in case of the failure of one or more he could fall back upon one or the other. The trouble with Scott was that he talked too much and allowed too many men, many of them irresponsible fellows, to know the inside secrets of his scheme to inaugurate a revolution and take possession of Lower California. Col. Foster, the special agent of the Department of Justice, has carefully investigated the facts in the case. He called upon me and I told him what I knew of the affair. You will see that he places the blame entirely upon the English Colonization Co., and will completely exonerate the Mexicans who were inveigled into the scheme by Maj. Scott."

THE ALBATROSS DELUSION.

It Drives a Scotch Sailor Crazy and Causes Him to Jump Overboard.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, June 24.—The log of the English bark Selkirkshire, now at the Atlantic dock, Brooklyn, contains a record quite in line with the superstition that sailors from the time of Coleridge's "Ancient Mariner" to to-day have associated with the albatross. When the bark was on her way from Australia to England a sailor known as Aire became crazy from the effects of the tropical sun. He imagined he was an albatross. The second and fourth mates caught an immense albatross one afternoon with a baited hook and line. When the bird was killed and the wings were stretched on deck they measured twenty feet from tip to tip. The long bones were removed from the wings and laid on the deck to dry. There was a glitter in Aire's eye when he saw the wings, and with a wild cry he plunged his arms through the hollows left by the removal of the long bones and mounted the rail.

"Wha says that Aire nae flee," he shouted and jumped from the rail into the sea, which was running very high. The fog was thick. A lifeboat was thrown overboard and the second mate, clapping another on himself, jumped after the crazy man. An attempt was made to launch the lifeboat, but it was dashed to pieces against the ship's side. A boat was finally launched from the yard arm and the men pulled away through the fog. The second mate was picked up nearly dead from exhaustion, and within twenty feet of him was Aire. The albatross' wings had kept floating on top of the waves and he was wild with excitement. He was hauled into the boat, but instantly jumped overboard. The mate hauled Aire in again by his long board and hit him on the head with an ax to keep him quiet. The men rowed for five hours and were muttering under their breaths against Aire when the ship was finally sighted. The sailors were so excited over the occurrence that the Captain ordered the albatross' wings thrown into the sea. Aire tried to stab the fourth mate as soon as he recovered consciousness and was kept in solitary confinement thereafter until England was reached, when he was placed in an asylum. For his bravery the second mate was presented with the medal of the Royal Humane Society of England.

THE LOTTERY BILL.

It Will Come Up in the Louisiana Senate To-Morrow at 2 O'Clock.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

BATON ROUGE, La., June 24.—To-day has been uneventful in lottery matters. Nothing has been done in legislative circles except the announcement of a caucus to-night. Senator Lott, Chairman of the joint Democratic caucus of the House, refused to call the caucus on the ground that there was no party question to caucus on, and thereupon Representative Shields (lottery) gave notice in the House, and Senator Goldthwaite (lottery) gave notice in the Senate that the caucus would be held to-night. This is considered extremely rich, in view of the fact that both Shields and Goldthwaite ran against and defeated for the offices they now hold regular Democratic nominees. The antis will refuse to go into the caucus. Strong anti-lottery delegations are commencing to come in from the country to back their members up. Two arrived to-day. The recklessness of the lotteryites may be estimated when it is known that their newspapers published as a fact and editorially commented upon it that the Governor himself made the affidavit against Stamant and did so from personal motives when in fact no affidavit was made at all. Stamant, the representative charged with bribery, was arraigned to-day in the District Court. He was accompanied by his counsel, Senator Cross of Baton Rouge, and R. N. Sims of Donaldsonville, and despite an effort to appear at ease, was to the most casual observer extremely nervous. He pleaded not guilty and his case was fixed for trial on Friday, June 27. He was released on his original bond. Intense indignation was created by the statement of a lottery Senator that if he could raise a crowd he would go and slap the Governor's face. The bravery of this remark will be appreciated when it is stated that the Governor has only one arm and one leg. The lottery bill is to come up in the House to-morrow at 2 o'clock.

Successful Initial Production of the New Comic Opera at New York.

NEW YORK, June 24.—The "Sea King," a new comic opera produced this evening at Palmer's Theater by the William J. Gilmore Opera Co., proved an undoubted success. The theater was crowded by an audience composed largely of well-known people, and the applause was enthusiastic and continuous. Esther Palliser and Hubert Wilke divided the honors of the evening, and the general opinion is unanimous that no recent production has been more richly or lavishly mounted. The costumes, by C. DeGrimm, are tasteful and becoming, and have the great merit of being historically accurate. It seems likely that the run of the new piece will be long and successful.

A Boston Lady Tries the Miller Style of Horsewomanship.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

BOSTON, Mass., June 24.—A rather pretty woman, mounted on a powerful bay horse, created a sensation in the Back Bay district yesterday morning, as she rode along Beacon street. It was not her faultless equipment or well fitting habit that drew the attention of the Puritanical Beacon street residents. She rode astride, clothespin fashion, just like a man. Her seat was good, and she managed the big bay with the skill of an accomplished horsewoman. Those who saw her say that the lady appeared to far better advantage than those of her sisters who cling to the side-saddle and assume a pleasure they do not feel. It is the first time that the Miller style of horsewomanship has been seen in Boston.

Leffel is the smallest official of the kind in the country. He is 46 inches high, weighs 60 pounds and is 57 years old. He was elected in the face of heavy odds, his opponent being H. Marshal, an extremely popular Democrat. Mr. Leffel was the Republican candidate and polled more than the full vote of his party. His majority was 120 votes. It will be rather ludicrous to see the midget in the Council, as he will be hidden by his desk when he takes the floor to speak. He has two children.

NEW YORK, June 24.—A telegram from Capt. Henry Erbon, President of the Trial Board, was received at the Navy Yard last night, saying that the new cruiser Philadelphia would leave Cramp & Sons' yard Wednesday morning for her trial of speed off the Long Island coast. Previous announcement had been made that she would start at 8 a. m. to-day and make the trial Wednesday forenoon. She must make nineteen measured knots an hour for four consecutive hours to fulfill the contract terms. The course has been measured between the Southampton Life Saving Station and Block Island. The entire course will be patrolled by men-of-war. Last night the Vesuvius sailed for this station and the Kearsarge followed her to-day. These boats will witness the trial.

SUNDAY-SCHOOLS.

The Sixth International Convention in Session at Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 24.—The Sixth International Sunday-school Convention assembled in Mechanical Hall, this city, at 10 o'clock, with nearly 1,200 delegates present from all parts of North America, every State and Territory being represented and all the British Provinces, including Prince Edward's Island and New Brunswick, with the possible exception of Manitoba. The convention was called to order by Wm. Reynolds of Peoria, Ill. When he rapped his gavel for order, the immense hall, with its seating capacity of 5,000 people, was about two-thirds full. The auditorium was very handsomely decorated; red, white and blue streamers ran the length of the hall and the back of the stage was filled up with evergreens and tropical plants. The American flag waved over the drapery back of the plants. Arranged in alphabetical order were standards, or banners, placed at regular distances among the seats bearing the name of State, Territory or province for whose delegation the seats were reserved. In all the hall presented an imposing appearance. The accommodations are ample for the 1,300 delegates expected to be present by evening. The session opened with devotional exercises conducted by President Reynolds and Geo. C. Stebbins of Brooklyn. The enrollment of delegates then followed, after which the President appointed the various committees. This convention is the most important ever held in Pittsburg. The delegates represent 112,897 Sunday-schools with 1,178,301 teachers and 9,148,697 scholars. Every evangelical Protestant denomination in the United States and Territories and British Provinces is represented. The object is three-fold: 1. For the promotion and increase of Sunday-school work until every child in the vast territory represented is reached; 2. To improve the quality of the Sunday-school and to suggest and devise new and better methods of reaching and teaching the children; 3. To furnish the world with uniform Sunday-school lessons.

CLEVER DETECTIVE WORK.

Railroad Men Arrested for Wholesale Rifling of Mail Pouches.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 24.—For over nine months past constant complaints have reached the Chief of Post-office Inspectors here of the loss of checks, postal orders, money, etc., while in transit between Council Bluffs and Davenport, Io. The total face value of mail matter lost is over $500,000. The inspectors detailed on the case discovered that mail pouches were stolen at Wyandotte Junction where the mail matter on the Rock Island road is transferred to the Burlington road for early morning delivery in Chicago. One pouch, with 50 per cent of its contents rifled, was found at the bottom of a well. Another containing nearly $250,000 of checks and drafts was discovered in a vacant house. Six railroad employes at Wyandotte Junction were placed under surveillance. Four of them, however, managed to slip away. The other two, Wilson Green and A. D. H. Lay, were arrested yesterday and held for trial in $5,000 each.

A Matter of Interest to Travelers.

Tourists, emigrants and mariners find that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a medicinal safeguard against unhealthful influences, upon which they can implicitly rely, since it prevents the effects that an unhealthy climate, vitiated atmosphere, unaccustomed or unwholesome diet, bad water, or other conditions unfavorable to health, would otherwise produce. On long voyages, or journeys by land in latitudes adjacent to the equator, it is especially useful as a preventive of the febrile complaints and disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, which are apt to attack natives of the temperate zones sojourning or traveling in such regions, and is an excellent protection against the influence of extreme cold, sudden changes of temperature, exposure to damp or extreme fatigue. It not only prevents intermittent and remittent fever, and other diseases of a malarial type, but eradicates them, a fact which has been notorious for years past in North and South America, Mexico, the West Indies, Australia and other countries.

A BAD MAN CAUGHT.

Cotton Belt Train Robbers in Court—Arkansas Atoms.

FORT SMITH, June 24.—Eugene Stanley, one of the meanest of the Indian country desperados, was captured yesterday. Stanley is only 19 years old, but has eight charges of highway robbery, one of murder and one of assault to answer for. He has served two terms in the penitentiary and made half a dozen escapes from officers.

TEXARKANA, June 24.—The men arrested for the Cotton Belt train robbery were brought into court and upon the statement of Mrs. Ratcliffe remanded to jail without bail. Owing to the excitement here the court ordered that John A. Williams, Napoleon McDaniels and John Brawley be sent to Clarksville for safe keeping. When the train left there were over a thousand people there to see them off, and it was only the influence of Sheriff Edwards that prevented a lynching. When the prisoners left town the excitement subsided somewhat.

CLARKSVILLE, June 24.—Eugene Stanley was arrested near here Monday on a charge of murder and robbery. He will be taken to Fort Smith for trial.

Special Notice to Democrats!

The Hendricks Democratic Association, having decided to participate at the ceremonies attending the unveiling of the Hendricks statue at Indianapolis on July 1, cordially invites all Democrats to join them in making the St. Louis delegation one, that in numbers, as well as in every other particular, will not only reflect credit upon our great city, but at the same time show to the Democrats of the entire nation how highly we revere the memory of a man who stood second to no man in this great nation's history in his advocacy of straight Democratic principles, and one whom future history will record as among the greatest, wisest and most patriotic statesmen of our country. The committee of this association who have charge of this excursion have arranged with the railroads to transfer them and their guests to Indianapolis and return at rates lower than can be procured from any other source, namely, $5.20 for round trip. In addition to which berths in palatial sleeping cars will be provided at a slight reduction from the regular rate. We therefore earnestly desire that all those who propose to accompany us upon this memorable occasion will, as soon as possible notify the committee to that effect through the Hon. Vernon W. Knapp, Chairman, 102 N. 3d st.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

CONSIDERATION OF THE SILVER BILL IN THE HOUSE.

A Vote to Be Taken To-Morrow on the Senate Amendments—Mr. McKinley's Motion to Take Up the Measure—The 7,300 Ton Cruiser—St. Louis Young Ladies Receive Honors.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 24.—The House Committee on Coinage, Weights and Measures had a meeting to-day and took up the Senate amendments to the silver bill. The committee decided by a vote of 6 to 5 to recommend non-concurrence in the Senate amendments and to ask the House to order a conference. Messrs. Walker of Massachusetts and Mutchler of Pennsylvania were absent from the meeting. The House Committee on Rules has arranged to have a final vote taken in the House at 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon upon the report of the Coinage Committee, recommending non-concurrence in the Senate amendments to the silver bill and requesting a conference.

The 7,300-Ton Cruiser.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 24.—If the intentions of Secretary Tracy and Assistant Engineer-in-Chief Melville are carried out the new 7,300-ton cruiser provided for in the pending naval appropriation bill will be the fastest vessel of her class extant. Nor will everything be sacrificed to speed. She is to have the many good features in her that are in the plans for the 5,500-ton cruiser just contracted for with the Union Works, with speed as the essential improvement. The plans for this new cruiser, now in course of preparation, notwithstanding the fact that the money is not yet available, contemplate a radical departure from the designs of engineers and machinery of the new navy. In other respects the ship will be patterned after the 5,500 protected cruiser, except that she will be larger and will carry heavier armament. To Engineer-in-Chief Melville has been intrusted the work of designing her machinery. The Secretary says he wants the vessel to make a guaranteed speed of twenty-two knots—one knot in excess of the amount called for by the bill. Mr. Melville says he shall have it. He is going to work with the idea that something unusual is expected of his corps, and is determined that the Secretary shall not be disappointed. The general features of the engines and machinery have been determined upon. In the first place, it is settled that 20,000 horse power will be necessary to produce the twenty-two knots desired. This is to be furnished in this country by the new method of three screws, each attached to a separate engine of triple expansion type. The coal boilers, as in the Monterey, are contemplated for at least a portion of her boilers. The arrangement of her screws has not yet been fully determined, but every point will be fully considered with the view to getting the very best results from them. They are to be worked together or independently of each other, as occasion may require. With all three propellers and engines in operation under forced draughts twenty-two knots is the contemplated speed, and with only one screw at work fifteen knots is named as her economical rate of speed and eighteen as a fair average with two screws in motion. The final decision as to the arrangement of the screws will be awaited with interest. In the cruiser Depuy De Low, one of the coming additions to the French navy, the central screw occupies the position usually assigned to single screws, while the other two are both forward and above it. With this arrangement and that of the French torpedo cruiser Ripoli taken as a guide, Mr. Melville with the assistance of the brightest lights of his corps expects to develop something that will be an improvement upon anything in this line which has yet come to public attention, and which will do credit to the corps as well as to the whole naval service.

FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

The Senate.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 24.—Mr. Call gave notice that he would to-morrow call up the adverse report from the Committee on Foreign Relations on the resolution introduced by him relating to the independence of Cuba—for the purpose of submitting some remarks to the Senate.

The conference report on the naval appropriation bill was presented and agreed to. The Senate then proceeded to the consideration of the post-office appropriation bill.

The House.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 24.—After the journal had been read Mr. Springer of Illinois called attention to the fact that it showed that the legislative appropriation bill, as amended by the Senate, had been referred to the Appropriations Committee without reference to the House. He said that if anything had been decided in the case of the silver bill it was that the reference should be made in open House and that the bill should have gone to the Committee of the Whole. The Speaker said the usual custom had been followed, that the record duly informed the House of the differences, and, therefore, declared the journal approved.

Mr. Butterworth of Ohio presented the report of the Appropriation Committee upon the Senate amendments to the legislative bill. He said that in the case of inconsequential amendments the committee recommended concurrence, but where salaries were increased or new offices created the committee recommended non-concurrence.

Senate amendments to the bill to grant right-of-way through Indian Territory to the Pittsburg, Columbus & Fort Smith Railroad were concurred in and the bill passed.

A conference was ordered on the bill to reorganize the customs collection district of Puget Sound and the bill to increase the number of managers of the national homes for volunteer soldiers.

On motion of Mr. Perkins of Kansas, the Senate amendment to the House bill to limit the time for the payment of purchase money for the benefit of the Omaha Indians in Nebraska were agreed to.

Mr. McKinley of Ohio, from the Committee on Rules, reported the following:

Resolved, That immediately after the passage of this resolution the House proceed to consider House bill 5381 (the silver bill), with Senate amendments, and at 2 o'clock to-morrow the previous question be considered as ordered.

He demanded the previous question on the adoption of the resolution which was ordered, and twenty minutes' debate was allowed on either side. The resolution was adopted.

GOOD SHEPHERD PICNIC.

The Inmates of That Reformatory Institution Given Their First Outing To-Day.

The Sisters of the Good Shepherd gave over 300 of the inmates of their convent a picnic to-day at Bamberger's Grove, the property given recently by Adolphus Busch as the site for their new building. There had been arrangements made that they should leave by 7 o'clock for the grounds, but a failure on the part of the wagons which were to convey the picnicers to the Grove to appear at that hour, delayed the departure until 10 o'clock, when a division was made and the party escorted in different routes to the grove. Some went in wagons and others on the electric cars. A number of sisters were in charge and those leaving on the cars were also escorted by Mr. Alex. J. P. Garesche, who was much interested in the affair and solicitous for its success. An arrival at the grounds found everything in pleasant readiness for the entertainment of the guests. The pavilion was cleared for music and dancing, which, despite the heat, has received much indulgence. Many of the inmates are very accomplished musicians and had brought with them their musical instruments and contributed largely to the entertainment. Nearly all, however, enjoyed dancing in the well-protected pavilion and wanderings through the delightfully cool grove which was thoroughly shaded from the strong sun. At 1 o'clock a wagon arrived with refreshments, and tables were set in the pavilion. There were sandwiches and other substantials as well as ice cream, fruit, cakes, and all manner of iced temperance liquids provided. The afternoon was devoted to outdoor enjoyments and pleasures, the greatest order being maintained all during the day by those enjoying the recreation so seldom theirs; in fact this is the first affair of the kind ever given by the Good Shepherd Convent to so many of the inmates. There have occasional excursions been allowed to the class known as the "Children of Preservation," but for the other inmates such a privilege has never been allowed. The girls were placed on their honor to behave quietly and decorously, and in fact showed no tendency to other than the most innocent enjoyment of the simple pleasures of air and music and dancing. It will be 6 or 7 o'clock before a return is made to the city. The girls all presented a picture of contentment, their faces showed happy forgetfulness and a thorough enjoyment of the present hour and kindness of the Sisters who did everything to make the unusual affair one of unusual pleasure. All the girls were neatly and tastefully dressed and altogether formed a band of the happiest nature imaginable. Preparations to keep the news of the picnic guarded from outsiders were carefully made, as it was extremely necessary that no one should seek the ground from idle curiosity or any other motives that could cause annoyance to the girls. Much of the success of the arrangements is due to the energy of Mr. Garesche, whose only daughter, Mother St. Laura, is in charge of the novices of the Good Shepherd, and who, for many years past had charge of the Magdalen class.

A SAD CASE.

A Handsome, Unknown Woman Found Insane on the Streets.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, June 24.—A handsome young woman, elaborately costumed, about 32 years old, whose blonde hair was cut close to the head and dressed in curls, stood in front of the Hotel Bartholdi, Twenty-third street and Broadway, for an hour last evening, apparently waiting for some one. About 11 o'clock she was seen to totter and then fall to the sidewalk. Two gentlemen picked her up and carried her into the hotel. A policeman was summoned and took her in a carriage to the West Thirtieth street station-house. She was placed in a chair in the back room to await the arrival of an ambulance from the New York Hospital. Meanwhile she appeared to be in delirium and raved of having waited for her brother who did not come. Then she wondered about "Bob," who, she said, was her husband. She refused to tell her name or address, but said that when she started out yesterday she had $173 in her pocket, but the Sergeant only found $7. The ambulance surgeon, Dr. McGrath, pronounced her insane and took her to Bellevue Hospital in the ambulance. When placed in the ambulance she thought that she was in a carriage, and talked of the easy riding. She was induced to enter the ambulance by a promise that she was being taken to "Bob." She was laughing gleefully when the ambulance drove off.

AN OLD GRUDGE.

Saloonkeeper F. W. Bayer Complains of Bad Treatment.

The case of F. W. Bayer for disturbing the peace will come up in the Police Court on next Friday. Bayer keeps a saloon on the northwest corner of Third and Wash streets and claims that he has not been fairly treated in the case. His story is that on last Wednesday he was assaulted by Officer Stenger without provocation. Mr. Bayer said to-day: "Stenger told my barkeeper a few days before that he was going to arrest me soon, and my barkeeper said the only thing he could get me for was the Sunday law. Stenger said he would make another case than that against me. On Wednesday I asked him about it and he ordered me back into the saloon, and I would not go. A little while later he came up behind me and slugged me. He also threatened to shoot my wife if she did not go away. Then he charged me with disturbing the peace."

Mr. Bayer says the policeman's violence was due to an old grudge, but would not state what the grudge was.

Killed by a Train.

At an early hour this morning two workingmen, James Willerton and J. T. Richey, while walking along the Frisco track near Sulphur avenue found the mutilated remains of a man lying in a ditch. They notified the police and the body was taken to the Morgue. Later in the day residents of Cheltenham identified the remains as those of Jas. Walsh, a quarryman who has been at work in the southwestern part of the city for several months. Walsh was last seen alive about 9:30 o'clock last night. He was a single man 29 years old, and came to St. Louis from Bennett Station. It is probable that he was struck by a 'Frisco train about 10:30 o'clock last night. An inquest will be held to-morrow morning.

Killed by a Coupling Pin.

Albert Sticks died last night from the effects of a blow by a coupling pin. Sticks and a man named Thomas Sullivan fought four rounds with gloves on Sunday morning in a club room on Gratiot street. Sticks got the worst of it, and it is stated he then bit Sullivan and ran at him with a knife. Sullivan claims that he picked up a coupling pin and struck in self-defense, and Sticks never recovered. The deceased leaves a widow and two children.

HOTTEST OF THE YEAR.

To-Day Beats the Record Made by Sunday and Yesterday.

To-day kept up the pace for heat set by Sunday and yesterday, and in fact surpassed either of those days. The thermometer reached a maximum of 94 degrees Sunday and yesterday it went as high as 94.2 degrees, while to-day shortly before 3 o'clock it stood at 95 degrees, the highest it has been this year. At 7 a. m. it was 80 deg., at 9 o'clock the thermometer stood at 83 deg. and in another hour it had climbed up to 86 deg., an advance of 3 deg. At 11 o'clock it registered 88 deg., at 12 o'clock it stood at 89 and at 1 o'clock it had reached 92 deg. By 2 o'clock it had already passed yesterday's highest reading and at 2:45 o'clock reached 95 deg.

Overcome by the Heat.

William Crotty, a laborer 41 years old, was overcome by the heat at his home, 2201 O'Fallon street, yesterday afternoon shortly after returning from his work. He was sent to the City Hospital for treatment. Crotty is a married man.

John Wurtheruth, 55 years old, a hod-carrier employed at present at 4334 Belle avenue, was overcome by the heat about 12 o'clock to-day. He was removed to the Dispensary and from there to his home at Third and Plum streets.

Edward Nuffner was prostrated with heat at Fourth and Vine streets to-day. He is an old veteran. He was sent to the hospital, and his condition is precarious.

Kansas City's Hot Wave.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 24.—The weather here during the past two days has been intensely hot. Two deaths from the heat were reported yesterday, a man named Wheldon, recently from Chicago and a colored child. Several were prostrated but will probably recover.

ABOUT TOWN.

A GRIP-CAR on the Citizens' Railway Line demolished a wagon owned by John Sewqmatti at Fourth and Franklin avenue this morning. The loss is about $75.

JOHN DOWLIN, 45 years old, fell at the corner of Ninth and Franklin avenue about 7:30 o'clock this morning. A severe gash in the back of his head was dressed at the Dispensary.

THE Merchants' Exchange directory to-day decided not to increase their force of employes, but to allow their present force to do the work. This means that the position of Assistant Secretary made vacant by the resignation of L. W. Stebbins will not be filled, and the office force will thus have their duties increased.

Finney Avenue Robbery.

Between one and 2 o'clock this afternoon the residence at 3937 Finney avenue, which is jointly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Nourse and Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Nourse was entered by burglars. The family and some visitors from Chicago who are spending the week with the Misses Nourse, were at lunch at the time. The thieves succeeded in getting almost everything of any value in sight. The plunder consisted of watches and other valuable jewelry. The police were notified.

A Terrible Fall.

About 11 o'clock this morning, Annie, the 9-year-old daughter of James Gordan, fell from a porch at the residence of her parents at 2952 Manchester road and was seriously hurt. Alighting on a stone walk twenty-five feet below the porch, she sustained a fracture of her left arm between the wrist and the elbow and a fracture of her left leg a few inches below the hip. Dr. Murray is in attendance upon the child. Internal injuries may develop.

LIVE STOCK.

Union Stock Yards.

DON N. PALMER, Manager. Closing hour 3 p. m.

Cattle—The need of good native butcher steers keeps right up and as well does receipts keep right down. The Union Yards market is offering most excellent values for this class of cattle, and prices have been steadily maintained. Good to choice fat blocky steers are worth from $3.25 to $4.50 when they weigh from 1,000 to 1,200 lbs. Native good heifers are in demand. Common cows and calves are not selling any better them they have been for a month past. They are slow and hard to sell even at present figures, $10 to $13. Kansas cows are selling from $2.85 to $3 per 100 lbs. Dairy cows bring from $2.65 to $2.75. Southwest steers are selling at from $3.25 to $3.50 per 100 pounds. Indians yearlings are selling at from $2.50 to $2.75 per 100 pounds. Bulls are the same as yesterday prices. Common cow and sausage material is selling slow at any price. The market closed strong. Everything closed at satisfactory prices: Following are to-day's representative sales:

No.	Description.	Av.	Price.
13	native heifers	660	$2 85
16	native steers	1060	2 85
16	Southwest steers	938	3 12½
17	native cows	1090	3 00
18	native cows	1130	3 10
23	Indians yearlings	411	2 87½
14	Indians yearlings	439	2 50
12	Indians yearlings	783	2 80
21	Indians yearlings	882	3 00
10	Southwest steers	1098	3 25
21	Southwest steers	1050	3 15

193 retail from $2.50 to $4.00.

Hogs—The hog market opened active and steady with liberal receipts. Good choice hogs were selling at $3.75 per 100 lbs, while the bulk of sales were $3.65 to $3.70 per 100 lbs. Market closed steady. Following are to-day's representative sales:

No.	Av.	Price.	No.	Av.	Price.
98	215	$3 75	69	225	$3 75
52	142	3 45	66	199	3 75

62	203	3 75	48	144	3 60
42	155	3 65	67	212	3 72½
58	201	3 75	51	249	3 70
56	184	3 70

Sheep—There were a light run of sheep again today at the Union Yards. Like yesterday the arrivals lacked much of being sufficiently large to keep the call from the city trade, not to say anything of an extensive order put in early by Maj. Wm. Jones, the largest sheep buyer in the West. The demand for fair to fancy muttons is very large, but owing to want of receipts buyers have to curtail their desires.

Wall Street.

NEW YORK, June 24, 11 a. m.—The stock market this morning was extremely dull, especially for the regular list and while a firm tone prevailed the fluctuations were very small, all stocks with the exception of Flint & Pere Marquette ranging over less than ½ per cent. Sugar was again the only active feature, although there was a comparatively large business in Atchison, and it supplied the only point of interest in the entire market. After opening up ¼ at 72 it further advanced to 72⅜, but the report was then received that a decision adverse to the trust had been handed down, and it sold off immediately to 70¾. That was the extent of the damage, and a sharp recovery to 72 followed. This was continued farther, and it touched 73¼ later in the hour. The opening prices of the regular list were generally small fractions higher than last evening's figures, and the early advances were generally retained at 11 o'clock, the market at that time being dull but firm.

Noon—Money easy at 4@5 per cent. Bar silver 104.

The stock market remained quiet for the general list, but there was more animation in a few stocks for a time, which was accompanied by a more pronounced upward movement and materially higher figures were reached in some cases. The trusts were the only ones which showed any marked advances, however, and Chicago Gas took the lead, rising to 57 against 55½ at 11 o'clock and 54⅝ last evening. Sugar rose 1 per cent farther to 74¼, while among the stocks of the regular list Reading and Oregon Transcontinental with ½ per cent each were most prominent. The trusts reacted and Sugar later went back to 72⅛, but at noon the market was quiet and firm at about the best prices reached.

3 p. m.—Money closed easy at 2@3 per cent. Bar silver 104. The stock market closed dull and steady at small fractions above opening figures.

LONDON, June 24, 12:30 p. m.—Consols opened at 96 13-16 for money and 96⅞ for the account.

4 p. m.—Closing consols—Money, 96 11-16; do account, 96 3-16; United States 4s, 124; do 4½s, 105. ST. LOUIS MARKETS.

Grain and Feed.

Wheat—"They're off at Chicago!" was the pool room cry that greeted the early arrivals on the curb this morning, and was brought forth by the announcement of July in that market at 84⅝c sellers. The Illinois State report and the decrease of 1,432,000 bu in ocean wheat (it decreased 240,000 one year ago) caused some reaction from this depressed curb, enough to open July here at 85c. But the influences against an advance were too powerful to be overcome. The local crowd were rampantly bearish on the magnificent harvest, the fine quality and condition of some more new wheat that arrived and the belief that the crop was panning out better than had been looked for. Then the dull and easier cables, the small export clearances from the seaboard of 7,000 sks flour and 7,000 bu wheat and the depression that seemed to strike all the markets suddenly, prompted selling by local talent. The appearance of that erstwhile bull, Frank Ryan, as a heavy slugger of wheat, helped materially to knock the price down and there was a rapid drop to 83⅜c, with the whole crowd in full cry after it. The price rebounded from this bottom rate to 84c, but the crowd could see no good in it and soon broke it back to 83⅜c, without a trade between 84 and 83⅜c. Subsequently there was a slow and irregular recovery. Outside markets moved up and showed strength, and reports of export buying came in from New York and Chicago, but local talent fought the advance for some time, July selling up to 84¼c and off to 83⅞c, but late there was far less for sale and under a sharpened demand July went up to 84½c, closing with sellers at that and ⅛c below yesterday. August opened at 83c and sold to 82⅞@83c to 83¼c, off to 82⅝@½c, to 82⅝c, to 82⅞c, to 83c, and at close 83⅛c bid. September sold at 83½ c o 83⅛c. December sold from 87c to 86⅛@⅛c, back to 86⅞c. SPOT GRADES nominal. No. 2 red offered at 86c and the best and only bid was 85c. SAMPLES—Offerings were fair and there was only a moderate demand. Only two or three millers were in the market, and they taking only selections of choice. Sales—Special bin—1 car rejected at 54c. Track East Side—2 cars [illegible] at 82⅛c, 3 No. 2 at 85⅛c. Track this side—1 [illegible] No. 2 at 85⅛c. Sacks—56 at 50c, 55 spring at 70[illegible] Northern at 70c, 77 at 75c, 310 at 80c, 978 [illegible] c. 75 at 84½c. NEW—There were a few sa[illegible] offered, amounting to 544 sks, the condition of which was excellent and about No. 2 in grade. This sold at lower prices than yesterday's offerings, but for some reason, best known to the seller, no quotations could be gotten on it.

Corn—The continued favorable weather and crop prospects caused a weak feeling to prevail, that was intensified by the demoralized wheat market of this morning. Cables were quiet and steady. Export clearances 320,000 bu. There was more July for sale than there has been of late, and it declined from 32⅞@⅞c to 32⅝c, but closed at 32¾c. August sold at 32⅝c and September at 33c. No. 2 white offered for July at 33⅞c, bid 33⅛c, and June salable at 32⅝c and August at 33⅛c. SPOT GRADES—Offerings were small and so was the demand. There was some figuring on round lots by exporters, but as the seller asked July price nothing was done. The order trade was small. Sales: No. 2—2 cars in U. and 3 in St. L. at 32½c; that asked for A. and U., 32⅜c bid for regular, 32⅜c for St. L., C. and M. No. 3—4 cars in U. at 31⅛c, 1 in C. at 31⅛c; this side offered at 31⅛c, bid 31c for E. 31⅛c for Cdlt., 31⅛c for St. L. No. 2 white offered in U. and A. at 33⅛c, bid 33c for regular, 33⅛c for Cdlt., 33⅛c for C. No. 3 white 32c bid for C. and Cdlt. No. 4 offered E. side at 30c, and in C. at 30⅛c, with 29½c bid for former and 30⅛c for Cdlt. SAMPLES—1 car No. 2 (switched) E. track at 33c.

Oats—There was further selling of longs out this morning and the pressure broke September from 27⅛c to 26⅞c, but later in the day it recovered to 27⅛c, and that was bid at close. August sold at 27⅜c. SPOT GRADES were really neglected. The only description offered was No. 2 at 28⅛c for regular, with bids of 28c for that and 28⅛c for East Side. SAMPLES—Offerings were larger and the market remained steady on the better grades, though the lower grades were dull and weak owing to the poor shipping demand. Sales—1 car No. 3 at 28c, 4 No. 2 Northern mixed at 30⅛c, 2 No. 3 white s. s. at 29⅛c. 2 No. 3 white at 30c, 2 do at 30⅛c, 2 do fancy, at 31c, 6 No. 2 white at 31⅛c, 6 do at 32c.

Rye—Dull, lower and weak. The best bid for No. 2 was 43⅛c regular, but none offered. No. 3 had sellers at 41⅜c regular and 41⅛c E. Side, and for latter 41c bid. A car No. 3 sold in A. by grade at 41c, and a car mixed with wheat by sample in special bin at 40c.

Flour—There was a little more activity in the market, resulting, however, in but a slight increase in transactions. Sales—Bbls. 125 at $2.80, 150 at $3.60, 150 at $4.15, 150 at $4.22½, 150 at $4.25, 150 at $4.30, 600 p t. Sacks—1 car at $2.25, 84 at $2.25.

Quotations range: XXX, $2.50@2.60; family, $2.75@2.85; choice, $3.10@3.25; fancy, $3.70@3.85; extra fancy, $4.25@4.40; patents, $4.70@4.90. Prices for lots on levee and this side.

Corn Meal—Very firm at $1.90@2, and pearl meal, grits and hominy at $2.40@2.50.

Rye Flour—Steady at $3@3.10.

Hay and Millfeed.

Bran—There was a good active demand from both Eastern and Southern shippers, resulting in a fair trade. Sales—Sacked, 1 car East track at 60c, 4 at 67c, 1 car middlings track this side, at 58½c, 3 cars bran, country points, at 52c, 1 at 52½c, 5 at 57c. Bulk—2 cars, country point, at 42c.

Hay—Receipts of prairie and timothy were very light this morning, but still enough to supply the demand, except for the best fancy grades, which were firm and wanted by feeders. The low and coarse grades of all kinds remain dead dull and the yards are overstocked, owing to cars held over daily and no shipping demand. Sales—1 car lot prairie at $6, 1 low do at $6.50, 5 prairie at $8, 1 do at $8.50, 3 choice do at $9, 1 clover mixed at $8, 2 prime timothy at $12, 2 do at $12.50, 97 large bales on Levee at $12.50, 1 car strictly prime at $13, 1 do at $13.50, 3 choice at $14, 2 do at $14.50, 2 mixed timothy at $7.50.

Provisions.

The market was perfectly stagnant. That case of yellow fever that annually obtrudes its grisly presence to depress the market was heard of to-day, in this instance in Georgia, which it probably was "marching through." The effect was to haul most of the buyers out of the market and reduce business to nominal proportions. Brokers were offering fully-cured dry salt 50-lb c'ribs to-arrive at 5.05c c. and f. here, but could find no buyers. Orders were fair for bacon, but light for all else.

Pork—Standard mess pork in a small way on orders f. o. b. at $11.50, and hard side at $11.25; on orders at $12.50.

The dealers report a fair trade in fancy creamies at full prices and a moderate trade in near by creameries, which have been affected by the extreme hot weather either at factories or in transit.

Commercial Notes.

It looked for a while as though even "Salpetre" couldn't save wheat.

The "Art Club," by which is meant Frank Ryan, was on top wheat this morning. Ryan knows how to pound markets a little bit, himself.

Last week's Indian wheat shipments were 420,000 bu, against 520,000 the week before and 420,000 for same week last year.

From Russia supplies of wheat are freely shipped, but most of the customers are outside English trade.

Chili is backward in grain shipments, and is only represented by 50,000 bu of wheat afloat.

The deal in July wheat had two beautiful black eyes, a cracked nose, a dislocated spine and had lost all its teeth by 10:30 this morning.

Exports from seven Atlantic ports last week were 141,534 bbls flour, 111,504 bu wheat, 1,695,816 bu corn, 3,422 bbls pork, 8,353,078 lbs bacon and hams, 6,423,617 lbs lard.

Illinois Agricultural Department's latest report makes the condition of winter wheat for the State 61 per cent of an average crop, which is the same as its June 1 report and 14 points below May 1. The central portion, where the bulk of the wheat is raised, is 55, a drop of 18 and in the Southern division it is 67. The Hessian fly is now said to be destroying wheat in some sections. Oats make a poor showing—an entire failure in the Southern portion, two-thirds crop in Central and up to the average in the Northern. Corn looks healthy and vigorous and a larger area than last year was seeded. The condition is 91.

Testimony to the extremely short yield of wheat in Illinois was furnished by a commission firm today. They stated that the crop in the rich bottom land around Cairo, Ill., where the promise was for a better yield than in other localities, is turning out only eight bushels to the acre. One farmer's field yielded eight sacks less than half the wheat he harvested last year. The quality of the wheat is excellent, but the heads are small and the plant thin on the ground. The agent for this commission house has sent back half the sacks he ordered from them.

New York reported eleven loads wheat for export, of which part was No. 2 Milwaukee spring at 90c. Chicago reported 75,000 bu for export also.

Chicago Market Letters.

Special to John P. Grier.

CHICAGO, June 24.—Wheat—The market has been dull and trading was chiefly confined to a scramble for sixteenths among floor traders. News was scarce, which allowed the magnificent growing weather to exert a depressing influence. There was some export reported from New York of no grade, but it has but little effect, being merely the semi-weekly dose for Mediterranean ports. Speculation is becoming very quiet, and, until it revives, we see very little chance for better prices. News from the harvest fields continues to improve and must be discouraging to those bulls who have been talking a 400,000,000 crop. The close is weak—Corn was rather heavy and very dull. Not an incident and scarcely a fluctuation occurred to cause a ripple on the surface of a placid market. There was considerable changing from July to August and September, causing marked widening of difference. It will be noted that there was but little decline in latter options.

Oats rather weak, caused by free selling of July by tailers, who have been expecting a squeeze in that option.

Provisions dull and rather weak, especially for lard.

W. G. MCCORMICK & CO.

Further liquidation of long July wheat and changes into future months, with some selling early of deferred futures on orders from other cities, furnished the bulk of business in this market, till towards the close, when it became known that about 80,000 bu No. 2 red wheat had been taken here and 50,000 bu in New York for export. It is our information that when the wheat already contracted to move is taken out it will leave us with less than400,000 bu of No. 2 red wheat, which is the grade being taken. Our wheat being on a working basis and the crop still unsecured though the price has receded 13c per bu we feel friendly to wheat.

Corn and oats weakened on favorable weather and provisions ruled dull with little doing.

F. G. LOGAN & CO.

Cotton.

There was no change in the situation. All points were weak and lower. New York spots show light demand as well as supply. Futures were firmer in the early part of the session but declined rapidly later and closed 3 points off. New Orleans spot easier, futures closed quiet, Liverpool spots easy. Futures, no change, Manchester cloths and yarns steady, little doing. St. Louis quiet, ⅛ lower.

There will be a public meeting on Saturday evening at the corner of Ninth and Destrehan streets, to organize an independent political club for North St. Louis.

A monster raft of lumber, the largest that has probably ever been floated down the Mississippi River, is due here to-morrow from LaCrosse, Wis. The raft is sixteen strings wide and twenty cribs long containing 5,000,000 feet of lumber. It is consigned to the Philip Gruner & Bros. Lumber Co., the John J. Ganahl Lumber Co., and Leopold Methudy.

There was an exciting runaway scene on Broadway yesterday afternoon. A fractious team attached to a partly loaded rock wagon took fright at Salisbury street and Broadway. They started south on the latter street at break-neck speed. They were headed directly for the entrance of Marx's clothing store, 3622 Broadway, and were turned off just in time from tearing into the big show windows. They just missed shattering Fred L. Steiner's $500 street clock and were prevented from wrecking a Broadway street car by Julius Sondermann, who risked his life to keep them from striking the car full force. The team finally wound up exhausted at Broadway and Buchanan street, after demolishing a lamp post.

THE STOCK BROKERS.

No Special or New Features in the Stock Market—Money Higher.

By Gaylord-Blessing Private Wire.

NEW YORK, 8:50 a. m.—In a broad sense there were no very important special or new features to yesterday's stock market, the leading commission houses said last evening, and they briefly dismissed the operators without much comment. The street realized after the close of the board that it had been fooled by the news agency report from Washington, which declared that the silver bill had been hung up and falsely quoted Chairman Conger of the Coinage Committee to this effect. The foreign bankers do not attach much importance to the gold shipments, and they say that even if there are additional exports for a while we are not likely to ship nearly so much this year as last and during the year before. Insiders in Wisconsin Central say that while these securities are neglected for the moment and are consequently stagnant, it may not be many days hence before dealers will regard themselves having been pretty stagnant or stupid for not buying them when they were down, and may yet be bought in the neighborhood of the lowest figures.

9 a. m.—Our London house cables stock market firm with upward tendency; expect higher rates for money to-morrow.

9:30 a. m.—Charlton, who has been prosecuting Chicago Gas with success recently, says he has heard delay in payment of gas dividend, due to indisposition of court to accommodate Gas Trust people by issuing order for payment of dividend so long as receivership decree is not fully and in good faith complied with by the Gas Trust, including Fidelity Co. of Philadelphia. This position Mr. Charlton deems eminently just and proper.

10 a. m.—Dow, Jones & Co. announced decision against Sugar Trust; have not seen text of decision, but am told it allows them to reorganize; if this sugar litigation is out of the way, the market is a great purchase.

10:30 a. m.—Sugar did not break when the decision was announced, and those who were short have been buyers since.

11 a. m.—The illegality of the Sugar Trust as decided, the trust must be dissolved according to the decision.

11:30 a. m.—The Rock Island has declared a dividend of 1 per cent, payable August 1. Books close June 30, re-open July 30.

12 m.—Omaha preferred, dividend of 2 per cent, payable July 21. Books close July 1.

12:30 p. m.—The tone of the market throughout the morning has been strong, but dealings have not been large. The improvement in prices has been very small, Missouri Pacific showing the greatest advance, which amounts to ¾ per cent. The strength of Missouri Pacific and Atchison is due to semi-official talk of an agreement between the two companies which will make them work in harmony and possibly give Missouri Pacific an outlet to the Pacific Coast over the Atchison. Chicago Gas has been a feature, advancing from 54⅝ to 57. There is no gossip current about it, but a prominent house has been a buyer. Sugar fluctuated with a good deal of irregularity, but in the whole has been strong, notwithstanding the decision of the Court of Appeals against the trust. Money in fair demand.

AMONG THE BROKERS.

A Dull Market—Stocks Sold and Prices Obtained To-Day.

The activity which has characterized the mining market did not continue to-day, as sales were small and the market heavy. Some stocks showed a decline, but as a general thing the quotations were practically unaltered.

Central Silver was the most active stock on the list, and was decidedly weak. The market opened with offers at 14, but there were no takers, and not until it had been offered at 13½ were any sales made. At that figure 800 shares changed hands and there were more sellers than buyers, the price afterwards declining to 13, at which 200 shares were sold.

The demand for La Union seemed to have exhausted itself yesterday, as not a sale was made this morning.

Mickey Breen was somewhat weaker, but in fair demand. The market opened at $1.15, but after the sale of 100 shares at that figure the price fell to $1.12½, and 200 shares were disposed of.

Major Budd opened strong and steadily advanced, few sales being made, as holders seemed disinclined to let go. The opening bids were at 6, but the first sales were made at 6½, at which figure 200 shares changed hands. The price then rose to 7, and after 200 shares had been disposed of to 7½, which figure was paid for 100 shares.

A telegram was received from the American and Nettie, stating that the mine was looking fairly and that the ore was improving in quality. One hundred shares of the stock sold at $1.95, and it was offered at $1.97½.

The first sale of Ivanhoe made for some time took place this morning, 300 shares being disposed of at 10.

Samoa was 3½ asked, 3 bid; 25 was asked for Skyrocket, 20 bid; Elizabeth was offered at $2.17½, bid $2.12½.

The following quotations were made on call this morning:

"WHITE MAN HEAP LIE."

Two Comanche Indians Going to Pine Ridge Agency on a Peculiar Mission.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 24.—There arrived in the city yesterday morning two Comanche chiefs from the reservation near Fort Reno, I. T., who are not only on a peculiar errand, but have histories which are interesting. They are Bark-on-a-Tree and Little Chief. These Indians are two of the gang that went with the Kiowa chief Santanta on the last raid through Kansas several years ago. They, with the others on that raid, were captured, and after serving a term in prison, were placed on the reservation near the fort. They have never been permitted to get off the reservation. Their mission is to the Sioux at Pine Ridge Agency, where they will join with delegates from all the other tribes of that great nation and go to the Black Hills, there to seek out the Indian Messiah, or Great Medicine Chief, who is expected to restore the Indian to his former greatness, and do away with the white race entirely. When told that this matter had been investigated some time ago and that the Sioux had sent a runner to the Pacific Coast for the purpose of meeting this Messiah, Old-Bark-on-a-Tree said "white man heap lie." On being questioned closely he said that the Messiah lived in the Black Hills, and could only be seen under great difficulty. He must be approached with great care and with certain ceremonies, which were taught to the old chiefs long ago. They have three weeks' leave of absence, and will go directly to Pine Ridge Agency and from there to the home of the mysterious personage who is to deliver them.

GREAT SPORT AND PROFITABLE.

An Alligator Hunter's Trip and Success in Mexico.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

GALVESTON, Tex., June 24.—Mr. Joseph Smith arrived from Tampico, Mexico, yesterday morning in the schooner Garnerk, which he had chartered to bring to this port a cargo of alligator hides. Mr. Smith was asked why he went to Mexico to hunt alligators and replied:

"Alligators are playing out in Florida. In fact, they are becoming scarce in all parts of the United States in consequence of their skins being in such demand that many persons have engaged in alligator hunting as a means of making money. I learned that in the vicinity of Tampico there were plenty of them, and my information proved correct. The alligators had never been hunted by the Mexicans, but I soon had them at it. At first I shot them, but a Mexican conceived the idea of harpooning them and carried it out so successfully that we followed that method. I was down there eighteen months, and during that time I secured hides to the amount of $50,000. It is quite exciting to take a sportsman's lamp, fasten it on your head on a dark night and quietly sneak along the river brink and finding one of these monsters lying at the water's edge harpoon him. It takes a steady hand and quick eye to strike him right and a strong arm to hold him after he is harpooned. I found no trouble in getting along with the Mexicans and enjoyed my stay very much."

Mr. Smith will ship his alligator hides on the steamship Nuece and sail himself on the steamer for New York Wednesday morning.

To the Traveling Public.

You will find the most complete assortment of trunks and traveling bags, such as dress, steamer and Saratoga trunks, grain, leather, alligator and sealskin bags, and satchels of all descriptions, at lowest prices at Herket & Meisel's, 420 North Sixth street.

THE SOUTHWORTH DIVORCE CASE.

A Decree in Favor of the Wife, With Alimony.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

BOSTON, Mass., June 24.—The famous Southworth divorce case, after being in the courts one way and another nearly a year, has resulted in Mrs. Southworth's favor. Judge Lathrop yesterday gave to the discarded wife of the great Springfield manufacturer a decree against the husband, allowing her $150 a month alimony. Mr. Southworth was sued about a year ago by a Boston & Albany baggage master for $10,000 damages for the alienation of the affections of the plaintiff's wife. A verdict was returned in the baggage master's favor. This baggage master's wife, it was alleged in the evidence, had been installed in a fine house in this city, the cost and maintenance of which were assumed by Mr. Southworth. About the same time Mr. Southworth sued for a divorce from his wife, but lost his suit. The skeleton in the Southworth household, it is said, had its origin in the fact that Mrs. Southworth was childless. Her husband spurned her, a financial disappointment combining with his unsatisfactory domestic state to cause him to renounce religious connections that he had some time maintained. In addition to the baggage-master's wife, the testimony in his wife's case alleged another co-respondent, a woman whom he installed in his Springfield mansion after he had driven Mrs. Southworth from her home. The discarded wife was sent by her husband to New York. Though she was a delicate woman, he failed, it was testified, to provide for her, and she was brought to the very door of starvation.

Discharged Themselves.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 24.—Supt. Wright of the Insane Hospital returned from the East yesterday, and found that Misses Griffith and Kane and all other attendants connected with the abuse of Mrs. Baker of Aurora had tendered their resignations during his absence. They were promptly accepted and the attendants have left the institution. It was the superintendent's intention to discharge them, but they anticipated his action.

YALE-HARVARD RACE.

COMPARISON OF THE CREWS WHICH WILL REPRESENT THE COLLEGES.

The Browns Suffer Another Defeat at Columbus—Other Games Played Yesterday—Racing at Sheepshead Bay and Washington Park, Chicago—A Challenge to Amateur Wrestlers—General Sporting Matters.

THE correspondent of the New York Herald writes as follows from New London, Conn., concerning the Yale-Harvard crews who are to compete next Friday in the great annual boat race between the two colleges.

I went on the Yale launch this morning when Messrs. Rogers and Bolton coached the 'Varsity crew.' It was the first good look at them that I had had since I saw them in their race with the Atalantas. They are, perhaps, a bit overconfident, and so don't make the improvements that their coaches expect. If ever a crew had an excuse to be overconfident this same crew has that excuse. The crew as a whole has not that hard swing up nor the life and snap that it had when I saw it in New Haven.

They are trained down a little too fine, and in order to save the crew the coaches have got them to row light, that is not to bury the oars as deep as usual. This is a very dangerous experiment, as it has never been done at Yale before. If they lose that fine solid hold on the water that they have had they will lose much of their speed. A crew that row their oars on the surface push the water back more than they push the boat ahead. The Yale men rowed in this respect to-day just as the Harvard men row. If they lose their good hold of the water they will lose one of their advantages over Harvard.

They have also gone back at another point. They do not get out as cleanly as they did, some of the men feathering under water a good deal. Allen, their stroke, has improved a great deal since the Atalanta race. He holds his slide now until his shoulders are well up on it. His hands are further apart, however, than those of any other man in the boat. No. 7 does not swing quite straight fore and aft and rows out at the end of the stroke.

No. 4 does not hold his slide until his shoulders are up and he goes much too far past the perpendicular. He also rows in a position which makes his chest very hollow. In spite of this he pulls a very strong oar.

No. 3 settles down at the end of his stroke quite badly and does not hold his slide until his shoulders are up. Bow does not swing straight fore and aft and is very late with his shoulders on the beginning of the stroke, so much so that he puts his weight on the oar after all the other men. The men row very smoothly and keep the boat on a very even keel. Their recover is remarkably well made, the boat stopping very little between strokes.

The Harvard men seem to be very much afraid of letting anyone see them row, probably because they row so much more scientifically than Yale. Some other college may get their method yet and do wonders. They went out late this afternoon, making a start from the upper flag. Their time both in body, swing and blade work is poor and their oars send a great deal of spray when they strike any rough water. Some of the men stop the headway of the boat a good deal by backing water a little as they are getting their blades covered. The Yale men have worked hard to avoid this fault and have escaped it entirely. The recover of the men on the slides is only fair.

A Challenge to Wrestlers.

The following challenge sent to this paper or publication explains itself:

I hereby challenge any local amateur wrestler, weighing under 135 pounds, to wrestle catch-as-catch-can, best two out of three falls, for a gold medal. Same to take place at the Olympics' Complimentary Midsummer Meeting to be held at Brotherhood Park Saturday, July 19. Ed Barth preferred.

Knowing that under the auspices of the Olympics fair play can be had, I don't think anyone should object to place. Respectfully,

St. Louis, June 24, 1890. ALBERT J. NEIST.

Division L. A. W. Meet.

The various committees having the arrangements in hand for attending the State Division meeting at Columbia on July 4 and 5 held a meeting at George Wilder's office last night and agreed upon the following plan: That each participant provide himself with a badge, which can be obtained from George Wilder, and a regulation straw hat which a local firm have agreed to furnish at 35 cents. The cost of the badge is only 15 cents, and thus for the nominal expense of 50 cents all the participants can be furnished with the necessary articles. The transportation arrangements are now complete, and the party will leave St. Louis on the 8:20 p. m. Wabash train, Thursday, July 3, arriving at Columbia at 1:15 a. m. July 4. The train will be provided with a special baggage car for riders' wheels and an extra coach for wheelmen. Already fully fifty cyclists have promised to attend, and the lists hanging in the various agencies and clubs are rapidly being filled up. The Cycling Club will go up in a body, and are doing everything in their power to fill a coach by themselves. The Missouri Bicycle Club will also attend in large numbers, and Capt. Grath will leave nothing undone to make his club the best represented one at the meet. Private advices from Columbia state that the attendance from points outside of St. Louis will be the largest that ever assembled at a State meet, and fully 200 men are expected to participate in the parade, which will take place on July 4, and be headed by the Arsenal Band of this city. Should the number of participants be 100 or more even better rates than one fare can be secured, and for this reason it is necessary that all who desire to take part should affix their names to the lists hanging at all agencies. The wheelmen would like to hear from parties who will attend the university semi-centennial for the purpose of securing their co-operation to make the party as large as possible. Those interested can address W. M. Brewster, 309 Olive street.

A Complimentary Meeting.

The Games Committee of the Olympic A. A. Club have arranged for a complimentary members meeting, to be held at Brotherhood Park July 19. All those wishing tickets can secure them by calling at the club-house or applying to members of the committee. Invitations have been issued for the ladies, which are to be mailed. Those wishing them must send name and address of the ladies for whom they are intended to committee who will forward them. An excellent programme has been drawn up, including some novel sports.

The Onion-Eating Contest.

From the New York Sun.

One of those delightfully unconventional affairs which now and then create a ripple on the cosmopolitan east side occurred at John Mulvihill's saloon, 288 Front street, sometimes called "The Truck Drivers' Retreat." It was an onion-eating match of more than ordinary pretensions. The entries were Col. Joe Brown, a colored gentleman with a vigorous appetite; George, the Norwegian, an acquaintance of Henriek Ibsen, the playwright; Paddy the Sojer, a gentleman of leisure and an aspirant for onion-eating honors named Billy Burke. Daniel O'Connell held the watch and acted as referee. The onions were placed on a round table in soup plates. The esculents were of the Bermuda variety, succulent and odorous. A liberal quantity of salt, pepper and vinegar were provided. The prizes were a $5 bill and the notoriety consequent upon victory. The conditions were briefly that the man who ate the larger number of onions in ten minutes should win.

A hundred interested spectators crowded around the contestants and eagerly awaited the signal to begin. At about 9:15 o'clock O'Connell gave the word and five onions rose simultaneously to ten eager sets of teeth. The Norwegian had the larger mouth. His teeth closed on a whole onion. As he crushed it between his jaws the powerful and diastic incense arose into his eyes and made him wink and blink like a toad in a shower. The others were more deliberate. They stopped to remove the skins from the onions with knives, thereby permitting the Norwegian to get well along on the quarter stretch and take a good lead. On the second bulb, however, the Norwegian was seized with a sudden and violent fit of coughing, which allowed Col. Brown to catch up and pass the leader at a canter. The Colonel grinned, showed his splendid teeth and settled down to hold his lead. Meanwhile the pace had become too hot for Paddy the Sojer, Billy Burke and George Stinger, who retired to the hydrant to wash anent the pungent Bermuda taint which had mingled with their breath, while the crowd cheered the two remaining men.

At the end of five minutes the Norwegian was rapidly regaining his lost ground by attending strictly to business, while Col. Brown foolishingly dallied with the condiments. As the minutes went by it appeared to be a nip-and-tuck race, but the Colonel forged steadily ahead because of his eminently superior grinders, and came under wire a clean onion ahead. He had eaten eight onions in the ten minutes, and was declared the victor by acclamation. The disappointed Norwegian turned sadly away from the table and exclaimed:

"I ain't much on eatin', but I'd like to see the man can beat me drinkin'."

Paddy the Sojer accounted for his failure by the remark:

"If I had a bit o' bread wid me inggunsI c'u'd bate the wurruld."

The winner squandered his hard-earned money over the bar.

The Browns Return.

The Browns will arrive this evening from Columbus. To-morrow afternoon they will meet the Colonels at Sportsman's Park in the first of a series of three games. The Browns have been somewhat broken up on this trip, having no one to play third base. The St. Louis team may take on a spurt within the next few weeks, for they will play nineteen straight games on their home grounds, meeting all the Eastern clubs. Rochester will be here after the Colonels and the Brooklyns will be the Fourth of July attraction. To-morrow's game will begin at 4 p. m. sharp.

Base Ball Notes.

The Rochester team will be here Saturday.

Thursday will be ladies' day at Sportsman's Park.

Billy Earle, the catcher recently released by the Browns, left last night for Cincinnati. He has been dickering with several clubs, but his best offer was received yesterday from the Tacoma team of Tacoma, Wash. Manager Lucas of the Tacomas would like much to capture Earle and it may be that Earle will sign with him in a day or so.

Sporting Notes.

The Grand-jury at Purvis, Miss., returned an indictment last evening against John L. Sullivan, charging him with prize fighting, and the case is to be called to-day and a day set for trial. A petition largely signed will be presented to the court requesting that the big puglist be let off with a fine without imprisonment.

The California Athletic Club has indefinately postponed the LaBlanche-Mitchell fight set for next Friday night. They evidently feared Chief of Police Crowley would make the arrests, as he averred, in case the battle went on. Both men were well paid for the training they did and instructed to keep themselves in condition for a fight at short notice. It is supposed that some local pugilists will fight in order to make a test case of the legality of the club's charter permitting it to hold prize fights.

As a Rule,

It is best not to attempt to remedy costiveness by the use of saline or drastic purgatives. When a cathartic medicine is needed, the most prompt and beneficial is Ayer's Pills. Their effect is to restore the regular action of the bowels, without weakening them. Being sugar-coated, these Pills retain their medicinal virtues for a long time, and are easy to take.

"I can recommend Ayer's Pills above all others, having long proved their value as a cathartic for myself and family."—J. T. Hess, Leithsville, Pa.

"In 1858, by the advice of a friend, I began the use of Ayer's Pills as a remedy for biliousness, constipation, high fevers, and colds. They served me better than anything I had previously tried, and I have used them in attacks of that sort ever since."—H. W. Hersh, Judsonia, Ark.

OPPOSE THE PURCHASE.

THE PROPOSAL TO BUY THE PLANTERS HOUSE MEETS STRONG ANTAGONISM.

Arguments of Those Who Do Not Believe the Merchants' Exchange Should Invest the Surplus Fund in the Planters' House Property—Answers to the Circular of the Real Estate Committee.

AS the date for taking the vote in reference to the purchase by the Merchants' Exchange of the Planters' House property, July 2, approaches interest in its result is on the increase, and the matter is being actively discussed, not only on the floor of the Merchants' Exchange, but also among those who hold memberships but do not often visit the floor. The letter of the Real Estate Committee, addressed to all members of the Merchants' Exchange, which was published in the POST-DISPATCH, is admitted to state the case in favor of the purchase in the strongest possible manner. All points are covered, and the advantageous features of the proposed purchase stated in the clearest manner.

THERE ARE MANY, HOWEVER,

who are not inclined to be convinced of the wisdom of the move by the logic advanced. A very considerable opposition has made itself manifest, and on the day when the vote is taken the passage of the resolution will be hotly contested. Those opposed to offering $300,000 for the property urge a variety of reasons for defeating the measure. It is claimed that on a very full vote a very much better proposition was defeated. When the Planters House proposition originally came up the property was offered at $350,000. It was stated that the hotel was bringing in a rental of $29,000 annually, and that the stores on the first floor brought in an income of over $10,000, thus giving a gross rental of $40,000. Those who listened to the arguments made at the public meeting held on the floor of the Merchants' Exchange will remember that one of the strongest arguments advanced for voting the money to purchase the Planters' House was that the investment would yield a far better return than that in government bonds, and that if the Exchange did not desire to build the money would yield an excellent return.

AT THE VERY TIME

that the Real Estate Committee recommended the purchase the rent had not been paid for months, and all the figuring done with it as a basis was misleading. The Merchants' Exchange refused to buy for $350,000 property that was supposed to be yielding nearly $40,000 a year, and there is a strong feeling in many quarters against making a purchase of the same property at $300,000 after three-fourths of the income has been cut off and the remaining fourth rendered very precarious, as it is a well-known fact that the vicinity to the hotel caused many of the present occupants of offices on the lower floor to pay high rent, which they cannot be expected to continue after their present leases have expired.

AS A BUSINESS PROPOSITION

many deny that the value of a building renting at $40,000 is diminished but $50,000 by the cutting off of between $30,000 and $35,000 of that rental. There is also a strong sentiment against having any further dealings with the owners of the Planters' House. During the previous negotiations they made certain representations in regard to the rental value of their property which after events proved to be entirely misleading, the very important fact that their principal tenant, had refused to pay his rent, and was in default being concealed. Almost immediately after the refusal of the Merchants Exchange to purchase the Planters' House closed its doors, and has been vacant ever since. To ask the Merchants' Exchange to offer $300,000 for this property, in its present condition, after $350,000 has been considered too high a figure when it was believed to be yielding a good income, is, it is argued, a proposition which no business man would consider in relation to his private affairs for a moment.

NOT A LITTLE CRITICISM

has been excited by the fact that the vote is set at a time when many certificate holders are out of the city, and when those who favor the transfer can poll a disproportionately heavy vote. It is believed by many that the Planters' House has been hawked about the city without securing a bid of anything like the amount which the Merchants' Exchange is asked to pay. The unwisdom of buying unproductive property at so high a figure when the lease on the present building has still six years to run is also freely commented on. Those who are in favor of making an attempt to buy the Chamber of Commerce are of the opinion that they should be given a fair chance to negotiate for it. To offer less than par for the bonds of a property that has a lease of six years, that yields a handsome return on the investment is regarded as an absurd business proposition, and those who consider the present quarters suitable hold that much better terms can be obtained when the lease has but a year or two to run than under present conditions. No cause for haste is perceived, as the Planters' House is lying vacant, and while the property will always retain its present value as a location for the Merchants' Exchange, its market value is likely to diminish with every month of its continued vacancy, and the Merchants' Exchange, by waiting, can probably secure a much better bargain. The indefinite reports in circulation in reference to negotiations for the property are believed by those who oppose its purchase by the Merchants' Exchange to be simply attempts to induce that body to make the purchase. A bitter struggle will certainly take place at the polls on July 2.

SHOT IN THE HEAD.

Andrew Hein Was Attacked by a Mob and Killed One of His Assailants.

Andrew Hein, foreman of the St. Louis Improved Street Sprinkling Co., shot and killed John Masterson, an ex-employe of the same company, in the company's yard, 1434 Dodier street, at 7 o'clock last night. On Saturday last Masterson and several other teamsters struck for an advance of $3 a month. They tried to get all the teamsters to join them, but failing they threatened violence to those who worked, turned loose the mules and were only prevented from driving them out of the yard by Hein, who saw them and with a drawn revolver compelled them to leave the premises. Masterson was the leader of this strike and he vowed vengeance on Hein. Yesterday morning he returned to work, but he broke a wagon and Hein had to discharge him at noon. John Meyer had warned Hein that Masterson had threatened to do him harm and when he saw Masterson, John Gempke and about a dozen others coming into the yard last night he tried to reason with them, but they would not listen to him. They ran over Meyer to get to Hein. Masterson and Gempke attacked the foreman who drew his revolver and fired, first at Masterson and then at Gempke. Both shots missed. A second rush was made. Hein fired again, and the ball entered Masterson's right temple and came out at the back of his head. Officer Smith came up at this time and placed Hein under arrest. Masterson's friends were in a passion, and they endeavored to take him from Officer Smith, who had recently risen from a sick bed and could do no more than keep possession of his man until assistance arrived. The crowd beat him with sticks and rocks unmercifully until Officers Lacy and O'Connor came up. Seeing Meyers, who had been the one to put Hein on his guard, with a rock in his hand, they arrested him, drove off the crowd, and took the prisoners to the Lafayette Park Station. Masterson was carried to the City Hospital, where he died in a few minutes.

Both Hein and Meyer tell the story of the trouble as it is told above, and Hein says he acted only in self-defense. He is 33 years of age and Masterson was 28. Both were unmarried.

"FATINITZA."

The Opening of Uhrig's Cave Last Night Under Propitious Circumstances.

At an early hour last evening the audience began pouring into Uhrig's Cave, and in a very short time nearly every seat was filled. "Fatinitza" was the opera given, and in very creditable style, too, considering that it was a first night's performance by a new company on a stage entirely new to them.

The orchestra discoursed the sweet strains of the pretty opera in an excellent manner, although at times the solos were completely drowned by the vehemence with which the musicians played. The male chorus is a good one, but the female chorus is yet weak in some respects. The principals are deserving of praise. John Bell, as the Russian count, probably worked the hardest and created the most favorable impression. Geo. Denham, as Isset Pasha, philosophized in a funny style and tried to please, but he is unsuited to the part when compared to others who have played it. It is supposed to be the leading comedy role of the piece, but he did not make it so. The tenor of Harry De Lorine is as mellow as ever, and as Julian Hardy, the war correspondent, he appeared to decided advantage. Miss Allie O. Beckle was a disappointment. Her voice is not as powerful as it should be for open air singing and her stage presence was very uncomfortable. Edith McGregor sang the parts of Fatinitza and Vladimir in a graceful manner. Her voice lacks expression, although the tone is sweet.

The make-up of the chorus was decidedly bad. Powder and rouge were lavishly displayed to the worst advantage, and the general effect was very unprofessional. If the management desires to keep up the past reputation of the Cave the first thing to be done is the removal of the drop curtain, a monstrosity most appalling. The painting is probably the worst ever hung in front of a St. Louis audience and would have a tendency to send an artist into spasms.

"Fatinitza" continues throughout the week and is altogether very prettily produced. With some changes the Cave should be a great success.

A Big Dynamite Gun.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 24.—The big Mofford-Zalinski dynamite gun built at the West Point Foundry for the British Government is still in position for firing at the end of the foundry wharf at Cold Spring. A short time ago the War Department instructed Supt Wilson of West Point to lay out a course for firing north of the wharf at a distance of 3,500 yards. It is proposed to use a 100-pound dynamite shell, but there is delay because a game constable has interfered, claiming that the dynamite cartridge would, in violation of the law, destroy fish in the Hudson, and there is a penalty attached to such a violation. It is believed, however, the matter will be amicably adjusted.
